U. S. ANSWERS JAP EXCLUSION PROTEST!

SAFE FOILS BURGLARS' ATTACK

Thieves Unable to Pry Open Strong Box Holding $2500 In Cash

Burglars broke into the Piggly Wiggly store at 115 South Brand boulevard some time between 11 and 12 o'clock last night and succeeded in carrying the 300-pound safe out into the alley but were unable to remove the $2500 it contained.

Frank J. Lipstreu of 637 North Maryland avenue, employed in a nearby garage, discovered the safe in the alley when he came to work this morning and reported to the police. Captain William A. Loving of the department at once investigated and found that the combination had been hammered off with a cold chisel.

No Finger Prints

That the job was done by amateurs seems probable, as Captain Loving found the door would have swung open had the burglars turned the safe on its side. They had the presence of mind, however, to carry it from the store wrapped in gunny-sacks, and no fingerprints were left.

Entrance was gained through a rear window, the investigation revealed. The front door had also been tampered with and a report in police headquarters shows that a passing patrolman had found it open and closed it earlier in the night.

Nothing of value was taken from the store, so far as can be ascertained without taking stock, Manager R. E. Sides reports. No arrests have been made.

Building Trades Back On Jobs In Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., June 16.—All is serenity and contentment today within the ranks of the Portland building trades council. Striking plasterers are back at work on an $11 a day basis, an increase of $1 over the old wage scale. They walked out when a $2 increase was refused. A compromise was finally effected with the employers.

The scheduled lockout of the building trades for today was forestalled when the plasterers came to terms. The carpenters' union, which withdrew from the building trades when a lockout was threatened due to the strike of the plasterers, is back in the fold.

Italian Balloon First to Land In Bennett Race

BULLETIN

LONDON, June 16.—The American round-the-world aviators have arrived at Saigon, in Indio-China, according to dispatches here today from Hong Kong.

BRUSSELS, June 16.—The Italian balloon Crampino of Italy, piloted by Major Joseph Valle, was the first of the entries in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup to report landing today. The Crampino came to a landing at Fecamp, near Havre, France, at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon. Fecamp is about 150 miles from Brussels.

The wind was blowing from the west when the balloons arose, but the fact that the Crampino traveled west indicated a change in the wind when the higher altitudes were reached.

Three American Craft

There are three American entries and many experts picked one of the United States balloons to win the cup. The real favorite, however, was Lieutenant Ernest De Muyter of Belgium, pilot of the Belgica. He has won two contests for the cup and a third consecutive victory will give Belgium permanent possession of the trophy.

The United States has not won the race since 1913. The American pilots are Captain E. H. Honeywell of the Uncle Sam, W. C. Van Orman of the Goodyear and Major Peck of the S-12.

National Conclave of Grocers Opens In L. A.

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—With 1200 delegates in attendance the twenty-seventh annual convention of the National Wholesale and Retail Grocers' association opened here today.

George F. Ruble of Berkeley, president of the California association, welcomed the visitors and other speakers included F. E. Kamper, Atlanta, Ga.; Philip De Puyt, Rochester, N. Y.; J. R. McDonald, San Francisco, and Sol Westerfield, Chicago.

ELECTRICAL MEN MEET

CORONADO, June 16.—The Pacific Coast Electrical association opened its sessions here today with representatives of all utility concerns on the coast in attendance. William Baurhyte of the Los Angeles Gas & Electric company is in line for the presidency.

DEFENSE SCORES IN FRAUD TRIAL

Claim That David Donwell Mutilated Records Is Barred by Court

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Arthur E. Fately, representing the Los Angeles Wholesalers' Board of Trade, this noon concluded his testimony in the prosecution of David Pashkow alias David Donwell, and Nettie Bowen, et al, charged with conspiracy to defraud in the conduct of the Little Premium Market on North Glendale avenue, Glendale, by stating that Mrs. Donwell had told him her husband evidently had mutilated records of accounts receivable before fleeing to Chicago.

Attorney Joseph Lewinsohn for the defense objected strenuously to this testimony going into the record and Judge Paul J. McCormick sustained his contention. Fately's testimony was a story of untangling Donwell's affairs.

E. R. Fredericks and Minnie Campion also were placed on the stand during the morning by Deputy United States District Attorney Russell Graham who is prosecuting the case. It is expected that the government's case will be completed at the close of today's session.

Attorney Lewinsohn and S. P. Turner, representing the defendants, will endeavor to prove that the affairs of Donwell's market were not settled in the most profitable manner for the creditors, it is believed, and they will contend that the assets were sufficient to have settled his accounts.

Ask Court to Quash Anti-Bonus Law Suit

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The government today asked the District of Columbia supreme court to dismiss the suit of Joseph Wheless, a New York attorney, who is seeking to have the soldiers' bonus law declared unconstitutional.

The reply to the anti-bonus suit was filed by the government officials who were made defendants—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Secretary of War Weeks, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and Director Hines of the Veterans' bureau. They declared that Wheless had alleged no facts upon which the court could restrain them from administering the bonus law.

Slayers Abnormal, Is Claim of Scientist

CHICAGO, June 16.—Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., slayers of Robert Franks, 13, are abnormal, according to preliminary reports of the first of several experts to test the youths at the county jail. They should not hang, is the opinion of these experts, which will be the ground work on which the defense will build.

Dr. Karl Bowman, Boston psychiatrist and ductless gland expert, probably will be the first defense witness and will present his findings from the exhaustive tests he made on the boys at the county jail.

KIDNAP YOUNG WOMAN

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Two bandits held William H. Stein, a sailor, and kidnapped a young woman companion from his automobile early today, according to Stein's report to the police.

GLENDALIANS ARRIVE AT DENVER

Delegates to International Kiwanis Meet Make Trip In Special Train

By A. L. BAIRD
President, Glendale Kiwanis Club

DENVER, June 16.—The special train bearing delegates from Southern California to the international convention arrived here early this morning, with 250 happy Kiwanians and Kiwanianas aboard. The delegation marched from the depot to the convention headquarters.

The special train picked up the Glendale party at Glendale on Friday, June 13, had thirteen coaches and the time spent in visiting various cities and resorts en route has consumed thirteen hours, thirteen minutes and thirteen seconds. We have two divers and no fish aboard.

A stopover was made at Truckee, Calif., where the delegates boarded the narrow gauge railroad to Lake Tahoe. After a ride filled with thrills, lunch was served at the tavern and a boat ride was enjoyed on the lake. Returning to Truckee the delegation boarded the special and left at 4 p. m., arriving at Reno an hour later, where the local club had provided a barbecue, sixteen miles out in the country, with plenty of automobiles to transport the entire party. After being shown the city by automobile the delegates returned to the train at 9 p. m. and the eastward route was resumed.

Hold Church Services

Ogden was reached at noon Sunday, where a brief stop was made, and then on to Salt Lake City for another stop and tour of the city.

In the delegation aboard the special train there were seven ministers and Sunday morning services were conducted in three separate coaches at the same time, all ministers participating.

The Glendale party consists of Lieut. Governor Fred Deal and Mrs. Deal; Ex-Governor Bill Brown, District Trustee A. L. Ferguson, H. M. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schneider and President A. L. Baird. The train was supervised by two special representatives of the Southern Pacific, Henry R. Greenrose and William Williams, a resident of Glendale, so the delegation was well cared for.

Assassin Slays Two, Turns Gun on Self

MOUNT CLEMONS, Mich., June 16.—Creeping up to the window of a cottage in which two men and their wives were playing cards early today, William Shields, address unknown, fired a fusillade into the room killing one man and one woman and wounding the latter's husband. Shields then ran 100 yards from the place and shot himself fatally, dying a few hours later.

POLITICIANS SKEPTICAL ON DAWES

Wisdom of Nominating Rich Foe of Labor Raises Campaign Doubts

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CHICAGO, June 16.—Here in the home of Charles Gates Dawes, Republican nominee for the vice presidency, one finds a mixed reaction to his selection as the running mate for President Calvin Coolidge. Business men are thrilled and satisfied. Politicians are somewhat skeptical, for they are not sure that a multi-millionaire is a good choice in these days of La Follette and Brookhart, this era of conflict between the agricultural west and the banking east.

Mr. Dawes is probably richer than any man ever nominated to be either president or vice president, with the possible exception of Garret Hobart. While Mr. Dawes is worth several millions, however, he is not reputed to be as wealthy as the secretary of the treasury, Andrew W. Mellon. But there is already an indication among the radical leaders here that they will lay stress, not on the method by which he acquired his fortune, for there is no disposition here to imply anything irregular in that respect, but upon the viewpoint which he holds toward labor as a consequence of his banking and business background.

Place in Finance

Mr. Dawes, as head of the Central Trust company of Illinois, is in close touch with the New York banking community and it was his bank which led all the rest in this region in participating in the recent loan floated by J. P. Mor-

Bandit Shoots Self When Holdup Fails

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Alejandro Padillo is dead here today, shot to death through the brain with a bullet from his own gun.

Caught in the act of robbing a cafe, rather than surrender to the police he jumped into a parked automobile and committed suicide, first rudely scratching a note to his mother. His last message was:

"Good-bye, dear mother. Kiss little brother Manuel for me. Your son, who is going back to dear old Mexico."

ONE DEAD, 14 HURT

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—An unidentified woman and a child are dead and fourteen persons, five of whom may die, are in hospitals, as a result of week-end traffic accidents in Los Angeles and vicinity. Sylvia Callahan, 4, of Long Beach, was ground to death under the wheels of an electric car at Anaheim landing.

Dead Man's Hand Fires Second Gun, Endangering Ship

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—The limp hand of a dead man, one of the forty-eight bluejackets killed in the U. S. S. Mississippi, fired the second gun after the dreadnaught had sped to Los Angeles harbor with its dead and dying, injuring sailors and endangering the lives of hundreds of the passengers on the steamship Yale, it was shown conclusively in testimony given today before the naval board of inquiry probing the blast.

Faces of the members of the board of inquiry paled when the testimony was offered for it came in direct contradiction to testimony of navy officers to the effect that the electric current controlling the firing of the big guns was "dead" when the Yale was narrowly missed by a mysterious shot.

Hand of Corpse

George Clarence Ogletree, seaman first-class, member of the squad of rescuers which carried the dead gunners from turret No. 2 on the ill-fated man of war, testified the hand of a corpse he had in his arms struck the firing control switch which shot the second gun, seriously wounding several sailors standing on the bridge.

There followed a heavy shock and explosion which knocked him senseless, the seaman testified. When he recovered a few seconds later, an officer ran to the firing control and threw the safety switch.

Deny Rumors

Walter C. Ebel, turret captain, first-class, corroborated Ogletree's testimony.

Rumors, widely circulated about the harbor, that the second gun which fired the second blast had been tampered with to "cover up" between the time the bodies were taken from the ship and examination of the Mississippi by the navy board members, were strongly denied today by navy officers. They said the turret had been under heavy guard since the time of the first explosion.

Seek Slayers' Motive In Shooting Brennan

NEW YORK, June 16.—With Frank Rossi and James Hughes under arrest, police today were trying to find a motive for the slaying of "Big Bill" Brennan," well known pugilist, who twice fought Jack Dempsey. Brennan was called from his restaurant, the Club Tia Juana, on upper Broadway, early Sunday morning and shot to death without warning. James Callen, formerly a state trooper, was shot in the neck when he tried to stop Brennan's slayers. He died this morning.

Brennan was shot through the body. He died without regaining consciousness. He was sitting at a table, chatting with his sister, Shirley Brennan, a singer in the restaurant, when he was called outside and slain.

Brennan is one of two men who have stayed in the ring with Dempsey for more than ten rounds. He retired from the ring a few months ago.

Warren's Resignation As Envoy Postponed

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Charles Beecher Warren, the United States ambassador to Mexico, who plans to resign that post soon, has been prevailed upon by President Coolidge to withhold his formal resignation for the present, it was learned here today.

In the meantime, Warren will come to Washington from his home in Detroit for conferences with the president and Secretary of State Hughes and will then return temporarily to Mexico City.

Search for Assassin Of Bulgarian Leader

SOFIA, June 16.—Police are today searching for an assassin who shot down Deputy President Potkoff of the Bulgarian parliament. Potkoff had accused his political enemies of plotting the assassination of the premier.

Sleuths Seize Opium Cargo of $2,500,000

NEW YORK, June 16.—Special agents of the United States treasury department reported today that the seizure in Hoboken on Saturday of a truck laden with $2,500,000 worth of opium and opium derivatives—the largest drug seizure ever made in this country, they declared.

GREER TRIAL TO BE SENSATIONAL

Startling Testimony to Be Presented at Hearing In Shooting Case

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—That sensational testimony will mark the trial of Horace Greer, chauffeur for Mable Normand, film actress, charged with shooting Courtland S. Dines, Denver millionaire, in Dines' bachelor apartments New Year's day in the presence of Miss Normand and Edna Purviance, Charlie Chaplin's leading woman, was indicated when Greer's trial opened here today.

"You won't be prejudiced against this defendant because a couple of motion picture stars might have been drunk or something like that when the shooting occurred?" was a question asked several prospective jurors by Greer's attorneys.

The men and women in the jury box were also asked if they were interested in the two stars' morals, reputations and pictures. Without exception they said they were not.

Officials Will Deny Grand Jury's Charges

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Vigorous denials were expected to be made today by state officials and members of the county welfare board, accused by the county grand jury as being "primarily responsible" for the Hope Development school fire at Playa del Rey, in which twenty-four inmates lost their lives.

Incorporated in the report of the grand jury's sweeping charges is the demand that immediate steps be taken to insure the safety of all institutions which are held to be "alarmingly inadequate."

Communists Read Out At Progressive Meet

ST. PAUL, June 16.—The communist party was virtually read out of the farmer-labor-progressive convention here today.

Taking their lead from Senator Robert M. La Follette, Republican of Wisconsin, who said he would have nothing whatever to do with the convention because communists were given places of importance in the meeting, leaders of the new third party movement, in framing the organization and personnel for the session which starts tomorrow, relegated the radical delegates to minor assignments and roles.

U. S. TEAM WINNER

RHEIMS, June 16.—First place in the Olympic 300-metres rifle shoot was won today by the United States rifle team. Switzerland was second and Argentine third.

FIRM REPLY BASED UPON ACTION OF CONGRESS

Complete Text of Note Is Not Yet Made Public; Wood's Statement

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The United States government today replied to the Japanese protest against the exclusion act in a note handed by Secretary of State Hughes to Ambassador Hanihara for transmission to Tokio.

The reply was firm, but couched in conciliatory terms, and denied that the immigration bill violated any existing treaties between the United States and Japan. Its text will not be announced until it has been received in Tokio.

Note Not Made Public

The Hughes note will not be made public here until Ambassador Hanihara can cable the text to Tokio.

The United States takes the position in the note that the action of Congress in excluding Japanese and other Orientals by statute is irrevocable and that the question has thus ceased to be one that can be regulated through diplomatic channels.

As to the abrogation of the gentlemen's agreement with Japan, Hughes left this question to be decided later, although it has been the understanding here that the action of Congress abrogated the agreement.

Protests Exclusion Act

SEATTLE, June 16.—Voicing an emphatic protest against the new Japanese exclusion act, Cyrus E. Woods, retired United States ambassador to Japan, arrived here this morning aboard the Admiral Oriental liner, President McKinley, departing at once for Washington, D. C., to lay his resignation and views before President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes.

Woods indicated that he would probably take an active part in the coming campaign, and that he was through for good with the diplomatic service, which previously had taken him to Portugal as minister and to Spain as ambassador.

Reconsider, He Urges

"America should reconsider her policy toward Japan, I believe," Woods declared. "Japan does not want to force emigrants upon the United States if we do not wish to receive them. I believe the Japanese government would be willing to agree to almost any form of restrictive treaty but the total exclusion provision of our new immigration law has struck the Japanese as a blow to their national pride."

In contrast with Woods' declaration that Japan is not seeking new worlds for her surplus population, the President McKinley's steerage accommodations were crowded with 238 Japanese seeking entrance before the exclusion act becomes effective, July 15.

MARIE PREVOST TO WED

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Marie Provost, movie queen, is to marry Kenneth Harlan, a screen hero, in New York within a few days, according to Miss Prevost's friends, International News Service learned today.

It is less than a year since both the actress and Harlan, formerly dancing partner of Gertrude Hoffman, said "never again" when they were granted divorces.

High School Pupils In Plea For Murphy's Comedians

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—The Public Welfare commission this noon was assigned the task of investigating alleged disturbances by Murphy's Comedians, now playing in Casa Verdugo at Stocker street and Central avenue. The Board of Supervisors asked for a report on June 30, two weeks hence, and until then no action will be taken on the protest petition signed by a few residents of the vicinity who claimed a "jazz band" disturbed their slumbers.

J. A. Menard, owner of the show, presented voluminous petitions from residents of Casa Verdugo, as well as petitions signed by several hundred pupils of Glendale Union High school, and thirty letters and postcards of personal commendation for the class of entertainment his stock company is presenting in the tent theatre.

Among the petitioners supporting Murphy's comedians on this occasion was C. M. Walton, one of the largest property owners in the district, who "had changed his mind," according to a notation on the petition and now believes the show is "a good thing" for Casa Verdugo.

The preponderance of opinion appears to favor Mr. Menard's contention, the letters of commendation flatly refuting the charges that risque shows are being staged.

The High school pupils' petition also begs the Board of Supervisors to permit Murphy's Comedians to continue because of the "clean entertainment" it affords the young people.

Guards Foil Plot to Dynamite Warship's Dead

SAN PEDRO, June 16.—Armed military and police guards stood watch in San Pedro today over the morgue where the bodies of the forty-eight gunners killed in the U. S. S. Mississippi explosion are resting, following storming of the morgue and threats to blow it up by alleged I. W. W. members.

"It should be 4800 dead, instead of 48," police said "the radicals" had shouted at the door of the morgue.

Police and sailor guards were rushed to the morgue after police, led by Officer W. L. Beard, had dispersed an alleged I. W. W. meeting and frustrated a plot to blast the building.

The plot, according to police, was to avenge breaking up of a meeting Saturday night in I. W. W. hall, when 300 citizens and sailors wrecked the building. Six of the alleged radicals were beaten and then tarred and feathered.

LATEST NEWS

BRITAIN MAKES PAYMENT ON U. S. DEBT

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Great Britain paid $68,655,000 on its $4,600,000,000 debt to the United States today at the New York Federal Reserve bank. The payments consisted of $19,000,000 in United States government securities and the remainder in cash. Finland made a payment of $134,325.

WATER AND POWER ACT TO GO ON BALLOT

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—Submission to electors at the November election of the state water power act, defeated at the last general election, was assured today when initiative petitions were filed with Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, carrying 79,017 names, nearly 3000 more than the required number. The signatures were secured in the following counties: Alameda, 24,922; San Francisco, 31,040 and Los Angeles, 23,005. The act was the first initiative measure to qualify for this year's general election.

SETTLERS TO GET GOVERNMENT'S AID

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The fullest possible relief will be extended to settlers on government reclamation projects in the west, it was announced at the department of the interior today. Telegrams were sent to the chief clerk of every reclamation project by Secretary of the Interior Work, instructing them to construe liberally the Phipps' relief act enacted into law by the recent Congress in the interests of the farmers asking for deferment charges due the government.

Seven Story Structure To Rise On South Brand

Construction of a seven-story office building will be started July 15, at the expiration of present leases, on the southwest corner of Brand and Colorado boulevards, it is reported. The site, 90x150 feet, is owned by Mrs. James B. McEnany, of this city.

Those who have seen the plans for the structure prepared by L. D. Keen of the Keen Construction company of 103-A North Brand boulevard, state that they assure for the corner one of the finest office buildings in Southern California.

Mrs. McEnany, whose residence for the summer is at Santa Monica beach, could not be reached but her brother, Dr. L. Neal Rudy of Los Angeles, admitted over the telephone that present leases on the property expire July 15 and did not deny that Mrs. McEnany contemplates the erection of a large office building on the site.

A prominent Los Angeles bank is known to be seeking a location for larger quarters in Glendale.

Ancient History of Devil, Sermon Topic

"The Devil's Ancient History" was the topic of discourse by Rev. R. W. Parmele at the Seventh Day Adventist church on North Isabel street Sunday evening. The speaker said in part:

"The Scriptures teli us that Christ was the agent of God the Father in the creation of all things, Col. 1:16. He created the host of heaven, the angels. Of one of them in particular we find a description in the twenty-eighth chapter of Ezekiel. This was that exalted angel that fell from heaven. In Ezekiel's prophecy he is spoken of under the title "King of Tyrus."

"Chapter 14 of Isaiah's prophecy speaks of this same being, in these words: 'How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning.' In Revelations 12 we read that 'There was war in heaven.' Lucifer induced many of the angels to join with him in rebellion, and he with his followers contended with Michael and the angels of God, the result being that the rebels were expelled from heaven. Satan and his host then came to this world and plotted the ruin of the human family, which he accomplished by getting Eve to disbelieve the word of God.

"We had nothing to do with Adam's transgression, yet we were made sinners by it. Likewise, we had nothing to do with Christ's obedience, yet we are made righteous by it. By faith accept the righteousness of Christ."

Mr. Parmele will speak again next Sunday evening. His theme will be "The Lamb Slain From the Foundation of the World."

Fire loss in the forests of America each year covers a total area more than eight times that left devastated in France at the end of the Great War.

DAWES' ENEMIES PLANNING BATTLE

Nominee's Foes Emphasize Hostility to Labor as Campaign Issue

gan and company for the French government. He has been outspoken in his views about the need of financial co-operation with Europe. He is one of the largest stockholders also in the Pure Oil company. In fact, together with his brothers, he owns that mammoth concern. His brother, Henry is the president of the company, which is one of the largest independent concerns in America.

Charlie Dawes, as he is familiarly called here, is, however, well liked and more of a mixer than the average business man. He is an expert on economics and has written authoritative works on banks; in fact, he owes his first appointment as comptroller of the treasury to that work. It is a coincidence that last year the late President Harding appointed his brother to the same post in the treasury.

Mr. Harding was very fond of Mr. Dawes. He took him along on the trip to Florida and enjoyed his companionship as much as that of any man in the inner circle. Mr. Harding was particularly appreciative of the fine public spirit shown by Mr. Dawes in leaving his business and coming to the government as the first director of the budget. It is due largely to the initiative and aggressive tactics of Charles G. Dawes that the budget is today operating as well as it does.

Open Shop Ideas

Although Mr. Dawes' antipathy toward labor is well known, it is unlikely that he will trim his views to meet political exigencies. He is not that kind. He has paid his respect to the waverings of politicians in such strong language that his whole makeup would rebel at the suggestion of back tracking. He did not seek the vice-presidency. The job sought him. He is proud of the organization which he created known as the "Minute men of the Constitution." It is in line with his ideas about "open shop" which he regards as a fundamental issue in American industry. He thinks non-union men should be permitted to work alongside of union men without restraint and that employers should not have to deal with unions if they do not want to do so. While the "open shop" issue is one that many business men would welcome as a good one on which to make a test once and for all, the political leaders are not anxious to have a controversy on labor when President Coolidge has been able to a large extent to make his labor opponents forget his vigorous stand toward the American Federation of Labor in the famous police strike.

Foes Are Busy

The political enemies are planning to make it all up, everything Mr. Dawes has said, hoping to convince the electorate that they are voting on a fundamental question of friendship or hostility toward labor. As a matter of fact, a vice-president has very little to do with the shaping of executive or legislative policies. Mr. Dawes will merely be permitted to listen to senatorial debates. If he sits in the cabinet he will have a chance to express his opinions and the influence Mr. Dawes would wield if elected will depend largely on whether President Coolidge will follow Mr. Harding's custom in asking the vice-president to sit at the cabinet table.

Whether he does or not, Mr. Dawes is the type who would find something in the rules that would permit him to make his job more interesting. His comments from the chair would make good reading and rouse the Senate over which, if successful next November, he would preside.

SOCIAL EVENTS

T. A. C. Meeting

The final meeting under the presidency of Mrs. Daniel Campbell will be participated in tomorrow by members of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mrs. Campbell's regime of two years will stand out prominently in club history, for it was during this time that the beautiful clubhouse on North Central avenue was built and successfully financed, all brought about in a great measure by her splendid ability as an executive.

It is with regret that the club members see her retire from the presidency.

Her farewell message as president will be given at the annual luncheon tomorrow, to precede an afternoon program.

Many reservations have been made for the luncheon, which undoubtedly will be one of the largest club luncheons yet held.

During the luncheon hour, Mrs. Enona Hopkins, harpist, is to play. Mrs. Hopkins is one of the talented members of the club, and her appearance is always keenly anticipated by the members and guests.

In the afternoon Louise R. Waite is to speak on "Woman's Place in the Establishment of Peace." Dona Ghrey will sing "The New Jerusalem" (Waite) and "Morning" (Speaks).

Another feature will be the appearance of Katherine Bodkin, English Shakespearean actress, who took the lead in "The Wayfarer." She will give a reading, "The Dawn of Peace," and the final poem from "The Wayfarer."

The final event of the afternoon will be the installation of new ofifcers by Mrs. Charles H. Toll.

Moonlight Party

The beautiful foothill home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Leland at 5441 Ellenwood drive, Eagle Rock, will furnish the ideal setting Wednesday night for a garden party given by Omar Shrine, White Shrine of Jerusalem.

A bright moon will be shining on Wednesday night, and Mrs. Warren Roberts, worthy high priestess of Omar Shrine, urges all members and friends to attend the party and enjoy the beauty of the Leland home.

Card games will be played indoors and out in the garden a gay circus will be staged, with booths and attractions to delight both old and young. Special refreshments will be served. Tickets will be on sale at the gate. Proceeds are to go to the general fund of the Shrine.

Mrs. Leland is general chairman of the affair, and is being assisted by Mesdames Ina Luring, Mae Warrick and Maude Smith.

Those attending the affair should take the first street north of Colorado, which is Hill drive in Eagle Rock. Following along Hill drive a turn to the left should be made at Ellenwood drive.

Musical Program

Miss F. Hoyer, pianist and piano teacher, recently from St. Louis, Mo., presented a group of her pupils yesterday afternoon in a program at the "Studio, Box 76," in Sycamore canyon.

Assisting with the program were G. D. Hurd, violinist; Miss Doris Barnett, soprano; J. Hilbert, baritone of Glendale.

The work of the pupils demonstrated the careful training they are receiving under the direction of Miss Hoyer. For the solo work Miss Hoyer was accompanist.

Those taking part in the program were Frederick Sibold, Irma Hilbert, Margaret Griffin, Sol Grabiner, Doris Crawson, Misses Helen Wenzell, Marion Livie, Robert Sibold, Mrs. Fisher, Wilbur Rankin, Margaret Griffin.

Tell of Wedding

Miss Inez Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Franklin of 633 North Geneva street, became the bride, Saturday night, June 14, 1924, of Lewis Kanaga, formerly of Parsons, Kan. The ceremony took place at the home of Dr. H. I. Rasmus at 315 North Jackson street.

The bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Frankstone were the only attendants at the wedding.

Miss Fanklin wore a gown of tan satin backed crepe, with hat to match. She wore a corsage of Cecil Brunner roses and lilies of the valley.

Later a wedding supper was served at the Franklin home.

Mr. and Mrs. Kanaga are to reside at 337½ West Harvard street.

Benefit Concert

The concert to be given tomorrow night, Tuesday, June 17, by Arthur Carson blind pianist, under the auspices of the Grand View Parent-Teacher association at the schoolhouse, is attracting wide attention. The program will begin at 7:45 o'clock.

The affair is being given as a benefit for the P.-T. A. general fund. No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken during the evening.

The members of the Grand View reading circle will meet at 7:30 o'clock, preceding the concert, for a very short business session.

Gives "Kid" Party

A jolly bunch of "kids" enjoyed last Friday night at the home of Mrs. Eva Pixley at 1034 Raymond avenue, where members of the J. O. C. class of the Pacific Avenue Methodist church enjoyed a juvenile party.

There were twenty-five present and each one came in "kid" costume.

After a business hour juvenile games were played and refreshments consisting of ice cream cones, boxes of "crackerjack" and punch were served.

Home Wedding

The many Glendale friends of the F. W. Paap family of 503 South Central avenue will be interested in the marriage Saturday night, June 14, 1922, of Miss Alice B. Boyd to Edward M. Paap.

It was a home wedding, at the home of Miss Boyd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franchot H. Boyd, at 2029 West Twenty-fourth street. Dr. James A. Francis performed the ceremony, which was attended by a company of fifty relatives and friends.

Miss Boyd was most becomingly gowned in white satin with trimmings of silver and crystal. Orange blossoms held her veil in place, and she carried roses and lilies of the valley.

Attending as bridesmaid was Miss Margery Boyd, while Peter Harns was best man.

Mr. Paap is connected with the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings bank. He recently won a prize of $500 offered by his company for the employe securing the most new accounts. In addition to the prize, he was granted six weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Paap have left by motor for the north, planning to spend several weeks in Yosemite and at Lake Tahoe. They will make their future home in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Paap is a graduate from Gunston Hall, Washington, D. C., while Mr. Paap is a graduate of George Washington university, Washington, D. C.

Philathea Tea

The silver tea to be given Wednesday June 25, by the members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church at the beautiful foothill home of Miss Nyda Dana's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dana of 1318 North Louise street, promises to be a most enjoyable social affair.

Miss Dana is chairman of the affair and with her committee has arranged for the presentation of a delightful musical program. If the weather will permit the affair will be held both outside in the Dana garden and indoors, from 2 till 5 o'clock.

The proceeds of this affair will be applied toward the missionary pledge made by the class. The members extend a cordial invitation to all Glendale women and especially to the women of the church, to attend.

Luncheon Shower

Miss Nina Richards, who is to be married August 1 in Salt Lake City, Utah, to Walker Thompson of Van Nuys, was the honored recipient of a pretty social compliment Saturday, when Mrs. Helen Grauel gave a luncheon and surprise shower at the home of her mother, Mrs. F. G. Appleton, at 721 East Windsor road.

A miniature bridal group formed the centerpiece of the luncheon table, which was decorated in yellow and green.

After the final course Miss Richards was showered with miscellaneous gifts.

Games and music were enjoyed during the afternoon.

The company included Misses Richards, Dorothy Carlson, Grace McKinley, Mesdames Glen Brace, Alma Hill, Elmer Smith, Appleton and Grauel.

Alumnae Picnic

The beauties of Griffith park were enjoyed Saturday by a goodly sized company of members of the Glendale College Women's club. It was the first annual play day of the club.

An account of the meeting was given in Saturday's edition of The Glendale Evening News.

During the business hour in charge of Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, retiring president, proposed changes to the by-laws were read. These changes create offices of parliamentarian, historian and auditor, and set time when dues become delinquent. According to the by-laws changes must be read at one meeting and voted on at the next. Consequently, final action could not be taken Saturday, but will be considered at the first meeting in the fall.

Electa Affair

The Electa Social club, auxiliary of the Glendale chapter O. E. S., will meet Wednesday, June 18, at the home of Mrs. Anna Gardner, 339 North Orange street. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Sarah Sloat and Mrs. Clytelle Hewitt.

Luncheon will be served at noon, for which reservations should be made at once with Mrs. Gardner.

The afternoon will be devoted to sewing for a maternity cottage. A large attendance of members is anticipated.

High School Cabinet Plans Big Banquet

The members of the cabinet of the Glendale High school will hold their semi-annual banquet tonight at the Harriett Mae tea room on East Harvard. A program of talks by the various secretaries and by members of the faculty has been arranged by Howard Elliott, president, who will act as toastmaster. Mr. and Mrs. George U. Moyse have been invited to attend.

PROGRAM CHANGE AT MURPHY SHOW

'East Is West' Opens Week's Run at Tent Theatre On North Brand

"East Is West," the Oriental comedy-drama that opened last night at the tent of Murphy's Comedians on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, between Brand boulevard and Central avenue, is unquestionably the best show these capable players have yet put on.

A wealth of scenery and a gorgeous collection of costumes add to the richness of the production. The lines are naturally good, Fay Bainter making her great New York hit in this piece. To these lines Murphy's Comedians bring a showmanlike cast that brands the whole production as superior.

"East Is West" tells the story of an American's love affair with a little Oriental girl, who turns out not to be Oriental at all, but American like himself.

Youth Graduated From Baltimore University

Friends of Mrs. Reid Fulkman, who lived in this city at 909 Chestnut street before moving to Berkeley, will be interested in hearing of the graduation of her son from the academic department of the Johns Hopkins university at Baltimore, Md. Mr. Kent intends to take graduate work at the university but will probably spend summer in Berkeley. Marion Kent has entered the University of California and will be a sophomore there next year.

Two Injured In Crash At Street Crossing

George C. Earll and his mother, Mrs. J. Earll, of 1350 Atwater street, Los Angeles, were injured when the car driven by Mr. Earll was struck by a Pacific Electric trolley at 9:15 o'clock Saturday night, June 14, at Glendale boulevard and Atwater street. Both were taken to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, where Mrs. Earll's injuries were found to be serious. She is still a patient there, suffering from shock. Her son was given first aid treatment and sent home.

Kenneth Ufford of 572 South Glendale avenue, who was struck by a Pacific Electric trolley on Friday night, June 13, at the corner of Grand View avenue, while negotiating the crossing in a light car, is still in a critical condition at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Club Women Express Thanks for News' Aid

The following letter has been received from Mrs. Frank C. Ayars, corresponding secretary of the Tuesday Afternoon club:

Editor, The Evening News,
Glendale, Calif.

Dear Sir—The board of directors of the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale realizes that the co-operation of The Glendale Evening News and its generosity in giving space to club announcements and reports of club activities has been a great assistance in carrying forward successfully the plans of the club for the past year.

"We wish to thank The News and also to express our appreciation of your most gracious and efficient club reporter, Miss Katherine Sinks."

Fire last night claimed the small frame tract office at the corner of Kenneth road and Alameda avenue. Engine No. 3 and Truck No. 1 turned out. The damage did not exceed $50, the report shows.

Former Resident Sees Changes Made by City

Recalling the days when the entire valley had a population of about 500 people, David Macdonald, a resident in Glendale in 1906, dropped into The Evening News office this morning and talked about the olden days when all of Glendale southwest of the present business section was a vineyard and the three principal buildings were a livery stable on Glendale avenue, a building at Glendale and Broadway, and the Hotel Glendale on Wilson.

He arrived here the day after the Pacific Electric opened the Brand boulevard line, he said. Mr. Macdonald opened a transfer business and later established a motor supply station in Glendale's first three-story building at Brand and Broadway.

He left Glendale ten years ago and has been a resident of Oakland since that time. He is in Los Angeles on a business trip and expects to move into Southern California this fall.

ELKS IN SOLEMN TRIBUTE TO OLD GLORY IN LODGE

Nation's Banner Honored at Patriotic Exercises at Saturday Meet

Beautiful exercises in tribute and respect to the national colors were conducted by the Glendale Elks' Lodge No. 1289 Saturday night in the lodge rooms of the clubhouse, before an audience of about 150 people. A program of music and a patriotic address by Joseph Burke were used as a setting for the symbolical altar service in which the Elks honor "Old Glory."

The lodge room was appropriately decorated with flags and the national Colors. Potted plants and red, white and blue floral pieces had been used in abundance to add to the beauty of the room. The program was opened by Earl S. Patterson, exalted ruler, who explained the purpose of the exercises and called on the other officers taking part in the ceremony to tell the significance of the flag.

History of Flag

After the introductory exercises and prayer, the audience joined in the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," accompanied by the Elks' orchestra. A. H. Dibbern, past exalted ruler, then read the history of the United States flag, whose birth 174 years ago was being honored.

Following a soprano solo, "Hats Off to the Flag," by May A. Trude, the officers of the lodge proceded with the altar service in which the principles of the flag are symbolized in the forming of a liberty bell. The base of the bell is formed of red roses symbolizing courage, loyalty and devotion; the center of white lilies symbolizing charity, truth and purity; and the cap of blue violets symbolizing justice and brotherly love.

SECURITY BANK'S BUILDING MECCA FOR HUGE CROWD

Kitterman Estimates Visitors At Public Reception Pass 25,000 Mark

The first commercial deposit in the new Glendale branch of the Security Trust & Savings Bank was made promptly as the bank opened for business this morning, Secretary Eugene F. Sanders of the Chamber of Commerce being the Glendalian privileged to christen the new institution. He was greeted as a depositor by R. F. Kitterman, vice-president and manager of the branch.

The largest throng that ever witnessed the opening of a Glendale institution turned out Saturday afternoon and night and surged through the six floors and basement of the new Security Trust and Savings bank building at the northeast corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway, the city's largest commercial structure.

Hour after hour, from 4 until 10 o'clock, countless thousands poured in, descended to the basement and inspected the vaults, surveyed the formal, dignified banking room on the main floor and partook of the hospitality of the bank, mounted in swift silent elevators to the sixth floor, climbed a small stairway to the roof, looked out to north, south, east and west over the cities of Glendale, Los Angeles, Eagle Rock and Burbank, then returned to the main floor and passed out.

25,000 View Bank

All through the afternoon, two units of A. M. Kelly's "Shrine Club" orchestra furnished music, the chief unit on the main floor and another downstairs in the vaults. How many thousands of people in all visited the building it is impossible for officials of the bank to estimate, but Vice president R. F. Kitterman of the Security Trust and Savings bank,

UNIQUE FEATURE AT GUILD SOCIAL

Every Seventeenth Person to Be Admitted Free at St. Mark's Church

Every seventeenth person arriving Tuesday night at the "Social Unique" at the St. Mark's Episcopal Guild hall is to be admitted free, it was announced this morning by the committee arranging the affair.

The women of the Guild have made every effort to make this social affair unique and to this end they are guaranteeing a delightful evening to all those who buy tickets.

Proceeds from the affair are to go toward purchasing a pew, which the women have pledged themselves to buy in the new mission Episcopal church at Laguna Beach. In order that all church members and friends might have a part in this worthy cause the "Social Unique" was planned.

Program Arranged

An elaborate program has been arranged and will include: piano solo, Fern Bosworth; reading, Robert Rhodes; vocal solo, Gladys White; saxophone duet, Paul Bange and Maurice Avery.

Playlet, "The Burglar," Mrs. E. G. Murphy, Marie Walsh, Mrs. R. Rhodes and Besse Long of the Emerson school.

READING CIRCLE TO HEAR LUMMIS

Authority on Southwest Lore Will Be Honor Guest at Annual Picnic

Charles F. Lummis, founder of the Southwest museum, authority on California history, and author of books on history and life in the great southwest, is to be honored guest and speaker Wednesday at the annual picnic of the Mutual Benefit Reading Circle in Eagle Rock Park.

The luncheon tables are to be arranged under the beautiful trees in the park and luncheon will be served at 12 o'clock.

Special guests and officers of the circle will be seated at an honor table, over which Mrs. H. Silliker will preside as toastmistress.

Guests of Honor

Among those in seats of honor will be Mr. Lummis, Mrs. Shelton Bissell, retiring president of the First District, Parent-Teacher association, Mrs. H. V. Henry, chairman of the Reading Circle; Mrs. A. A. Barton, past chairman of the circle.

Those planning to attend the picnic are urged to reach the park before the noon hour for luncheon is to be served exactly at 12 o'clock. Those having no means of transportation can take the Pasadena bus at Brand and Broadway at the hour and half hour.

Each person attending is to bring a plate, knife, fork, spoon and cup.

CONFER DEGREES ON GLENDALIANS

Four Students Win Honors in Graduation Held at Pasadena Tech

Four Glendale students at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena received degrees at the commencement exercises held on the campus Friday afternoon. The graduation program included musical numbers by the Institute orchestra and the glee club, addresses by Henry M. Robinson and Charles E. Grunsky, and the conferring of the degrees.

Besides the seventy-eight graduates receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science, there were nine who received the degree, Doctor of Philosophy and three that of Master of Science. The exercises were held in the shade of one of the buildings with the speakers seated on the balcony.

Those from Glendale receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science were William Conklin Dreyer of 232 North Cedar street and Loys Griswold of 525 North Kenwood street in the college of Electrical Engineering, Hollis Weaver Moyse of 322 East Harvard street in chemical Engineering, and Hugh Barton Freeman of 616½ Alexander street in Physics and Engineering.

GOLDEN WEDDING BRINGS GREETING

Mr. and Mrs. John Graham Celebrate Anniversary Of Their Marriage

Beautiful flowers from California's summer gardens, artistic gifts of gold, messages from friends in all parts of the United States and greetings from relatives and friends combined in the happiness of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Graham of 639 North Jackson street, who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary with an informal reception at their home today from 2 till 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7:30 till 9 o'clock in the evening.

Sharing with the Grahams in the reception were their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Orth of North Central avenue and their daughters, Miss Hettie Orth and Mrs. Leland Smith.

Wire Greetings

Their sons, H. E. Graham of Chicago, Ill., and Captain James G. Graham of Culver Military school, Culver, Ind., were unable to be in attendance at the celebration, but wired them hearty congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham were married in Alliance, Ohio, June 16, 1874. They resided for many years in Pittsburg, Pa. They came to California in 1906 and resided in Burbank for seven years, later locating in Glendale. Mr. Graham is a retired Pennsylvania locomotive engineer.

Mr. Graham presented Mrs. Graham this morning with a beautiful new Oakland sedan as an anniversary present.

First Advertisement Will Run This Week

The advertising committee of the Chamber of Commerce at the regular weekly meeting today authorized the publication of the first advertisement in Glendale's campaign, to be run in the Los Angeles Times on Thursday, June 19.

The bills that were referred to the committee by the Board of Control last week for adjustment were ordered paid. These are: Glen Dolberg, $253.50 for photographic work; Claude G. Putnam, art work, $120, from which a discount of 10 per cent was deducted; and the bill for engraving the cuts for the folder, $125, from which a 25 per cent discount was deducted.

BERTHA WHEELER WEDS AT PRETTY HOME CEREMONY

Popular Girl Becomes Bride Of Dean Williams at Pretty Wedding

Miss Bertha Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Wheeler, and Dean Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Williams of 1291½ South Adams street, were united in marriage Saturday night, June 14, 1924, at a ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, 600 Wing street, at 8 o'clock before a company of sixty relatives and intimate friends.

Rev. J. B. Green of Hollywood, grandfather of the bride, officiated at the ceremony, assisted by Dr. H. I. Rasmus, pastor of the First Methodist church of this city.

The rooms of the Wheeler home had been beautifully decorated with a profusion of pink and white spring flowers, ferns, potted plants and palms. The wedding ceremony was performed in the archway between the living and dining rooms.

Six Bridesmaids

Preceding the reading of the marriage service, Mrs. W. D. Johnston of Alhambra sang "O, Promise Me." She was accompanied on the piano by Stanley Delmar Wheeler, brother of the bride, who also played the Lohengrin wedding march for the entrance of the bridal party.

Miss Wheeler was attended by six bridesmaids, Miss Agnes Caldwell, Miss Eunice Caldwell, Miss Dorothy Gutekunst and Miss Elioise Francy of Glendale and Miss Margaret Taylor of Los Angeles and Miss Mabel Ella Brown of Torrence. They wore pastel shaded georgette crepe frocks and carried arm bouquets of sweetpeas and ferns. Miss Eunice Caldwell wore blue, Miss Agnes Caldwell, yellow, Miss Gutekunst, orchid, Miss Francy, orange, Miss Taylor pink and Miss Brown, white.

Dorothy Wheeler, sister of the bride was the flower girl. She wore a dainty pale green voile frock trimmed in lace ruffles. She carried a small white basket filled

AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION

Too many Americans seem to think that all amendments to the constitution are dangerous and in defiance of the original purpose of the document. This is not the case, as a calm study of the constitution will show.

The essential spirit underlying the American constitution and animating the founders is FREEDOM. The initial congress which convened when the federal government was in swaddling clothes, proposed ten amendments more specifically guaranteeing civil freedom. The whole train of amendments following the Civil war were devised, broadly speaking, for the same purpose.

The thirteenth amendment abolished human slavery in this country.

The fourteenth amendment forbade the abridgment of citizenship rights.

The fifteenth amendment expressly gave every male citizen the right to vote.

The sixteenth amendment gave the people the right to tax wealth directly for national purposes.

The seventeenth amendment enabled the people to elect their senators directly and thus free the United States Senate from political bossism.

The eighteenth amendment aimed to free the nation from the domination of the liquor traffic and its people individually from the slavery of alcohol.

The nineteenth amendment enfranchised women.

The twentieth amendment will free millions of children under 18 from stunting toil, by empowering the federal government to limit, regulate or prohibit the labor of boys and girls under 18 years of age.

Here is progress in human freedom which, instead of "destroying respect for the constitution," justifies it as a vital, expanding body of organic law, adaptable to the needs of a liberty-loving people generation after generation.

DO "THE PEOPLE" RULE?

A citizen was ranting hysterically the other day about the tricks of politicians, the corruption among those in high places and the impotence of the voter to bring about reforms. The man to whom he was talking answered quietly, "Yes, but I vote every time I get a chance."

That man was a truly patriotic citizen. He knows that wrongs exist in our government, he doesn't rave about them, but he does the one thing he can do—vote. If every man and woman eligible to vote had the good of the country on their consciences, wanted to see politics purged of corruption and did as this man does, the thing would be accomplished.

There is no good in ranting and raving. It is well, of course, for us to talk these matters over, but the aim should be to arrive at some conclusion rather than talking to hear the sound of our own voices. And the voter can bring about results. The trouble is, he does not try.

In a current magazine a writer ridicules the principle that in America "the people rule." He says this is a device on the part of some to make the people believe they are sovereign when in reality the country is governed by a few. He is right, but if the people are fooled they are fooling themselves and have only themselves to blame. We are "the people" and "the people" are sovereign, but when we ignore our duty as voters we abdicate the throne and turn the country over to the few. Less than fifty per cent of citizens eligible to vote, register, and less than fifty per cent of those who register vote. The great, big majority of us pass the ballot box on our way about our private business with a fine scorn. And then we grow indignant because there are tricks in politics and scandals in high places.

The greatest menace of America today is the indifference and the apathy of her own citizens.

AIMED AT HEART OF CIVILIZATION

The most fantastic dreams of fictionists, from Jules Verne to H. G. Wells, have one by one been realized by scientists—and now comes the fiendish "Death Ray," ominous to all civilization, a threat aimed at the very continuance of life on this planet.

What a mockery, if humanity should end up by annihilating itself from the face of the globe, by ferreting out the great secret forces of nature and applying them nation against nation, in a continued series of more and more devastating wars.

To say that the Death Day is "only imagination" is to put oneself in the class with these who said the submarine, the aeroplane, the wireless, the radio and a dozen other astounding inventions were only imagination. Scientists know that the chances are all in favor of such a ray actually having been discovered—AND THEY SHUDDER.

Fritz Kreisler, violin genius, has offered to devote all his money-making powers to buying and "burying" this fearful invention. Time and money wasted! Not only would it be impossible to keep the "secret" a secret, but other and even more appalling inventions are pending, as greedy and perverted scientists vie with one another to wrest from nature her most destructive forces.

Rather than wealth and honor, capital punishment should be meted out to inventors of such purely destructive weapons as deadly rays and poisonous gases. Were the inventive genius of the world concentrated on constructive rather than destructive devices, the so-called millennium would become an actuality. As it is, it appears that the Apocalypse is much more likely to be in store for the children of earth.

NO PLACE IN PUBLIC LIFE

The reported contract between a Los Angeles theatrical manager and a certain former film "funny man" of malodorous reputation, by the terms of which the latter appears in the chain of showhouses controlled by the former, in a one-act monologue, furnishes all the elements of moral nausea.

The escapades of this comedian, culminating in the death in a San Francisco hotel, under disgusting circumstances, of a young woman also employed in the films, are well known. A grand jury indicted the man for manslaughter and he was tried three times on that charge, at great cost to the state and to himself. Finally, after two disagreements, the jury returned a verdict for acquittal and the man was returned to society, or that is to say, such society as he could find.

Pictures, by order of Will H. Hays, were barred to him. What he has done for a living since the affair, no one cares and few know. Now he is about to make a "clean-up" on public curiosity—and once more the filthy details of the bibulous affair will be whispered by callous youths, silly girls and sillier parents. Something should be done. But what?

A long speech, like tough pie crust, needs shortening.

The Soil

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The soil is the mother of us all.

There are as many kinds of soil as there are people to look at it.

There is the rainy and the dusty road.

There is the plowed land and the grassy meadow.

There is the bare land which seems to expose itself needlessly to the elements, and there is the thick lush soil of the Mississippi valley.

We are all growths of the soil.

Men spring up as lilies-of-the-valley or as mountain flowers. The ideas which I have come from the soil, which is the bosom of all seeds.

Within the soil lies all life as within the fecund womb.

It only awaits the touch of the husband, who is the sun, which brings its rain and warmth to bear upon her.

Then she gives forth all things, ripens all seeds, of which mankind is one.

The soil is made up largely of forms of departed life, dead leaves and wood and bodies of animals. It is the graveyard of life at the same time that it is the birthplace of life.

Life springs from itself. It is the unexplained phenomenon of the earth.

The soil always holds some kinds of seeds. For in any portion of it, taken from any depth and subjected to heat and moisture, some sorts of seeds will germinate.

I find a similar thing to be true of myself. There is a certain part of me which is as the soil and brings forth strange creatures.

Man controls his desires, to be sure, but he cannot control the rise of his desires in the first place. These desires are a part of the soil of which he is composed. To change them one would have to go back several generations.

I do not condemn my soil. I am of its humanity and nothing grows in me but has grown in other persons. And I have no excellence that is not also theirs.

Beneath us all is the deep soil of the human race.

What a cheap and tawdry thing it is, therefore, for one to be proud of his gifts or attainments, for those evidences of special genius are not his, but belong to his race.

GOOD AND BAD
(From Hollywood Citizen)

A Los Angeles citizen defending himself from the charges of wrong-doing pointed to the good that he had done.

And he had much to point to.

None the less the wrong-doing was not disproven.

Possibly this man, conscious of the wrong he had been doing, had sought also to do some good to ease a conscience that had not been entirely killed.

Possibly he had figured that none would suspect him of wrong doing if he gave sufficient public evidence that he had done some good things.

Many of us are like this man.

The most of us, no matter how bad we are willing to be, still want the public to think that we are good.

We may be always ready to stoop to dishonesty to gain a point. We still want the public to think us honest.

We may be ready to take unfair and criminal advantage of others. We still want the public to believe that we are just and law-abiding.

We may be immoral in our conduct. Still we want the public to believe us strictly moral.

And even this is better indeed than that in our wrong doing we lose all concern over the public opinion.

If we won't do good excepting as a cover to the bad that we do, the good is still acceptable, though it doesn't excuse our wrong.

Many men have done a lot of good in the world because of a conscience that needed salving.

We would prefer, of course, that they do no wrongs.

But if they are determined to do the wrongs, shouldn't we show some satisfaction over the good?

CHANCE FOR FILIPINOS
(From Boston Transcript)

Representative Fairfield of Indiana has introduced a bill in the house giving to the Filipinos an autonomous form of government somewhat like that of the British self-governing dominions. This measure, which is certain to be misrepresented by the Filipino agitators as being more than a mere expression of opinion, has for conspicuous feature that, after thirty years' existence as a dominion, or as the bill calls it a commonwealth, a general popular election shall be held for the Filipinos to decide whether they wish complete independence. * * *

The United States is the friend of the Filipinos and the sincere helper in their political ambitions running parallel to those of Americans. It is the policy of this government always to push the Filipinos forward and not back; but they themselves have a very great deal to learn. It is only the agitator and the idealist with a taste for ward politics that will tell the Filipinos that they have learned, for "Filipinos" signifies a great many thousands who never heard the phonographs in Manila and to whom at present the breechclout is decidedly more grateful than the toga or the top hat.

UPWARD
(From Fresno Republican)

It makes a whole lot of difference whether one is on the inside looking out, or on the outside looking in.

True, even of the Garden of Eden.

The modern world prefers being on the outside, looking in.

It prefers being on the ground level of humanity, looking upward. It believes in aspiration, rather than in self satisfaction.

The ancient world believed in looking at itself as "fallen." The modern world regards itself as rising "by things that are 'neath our feet." And we are the better for it.

Our minds are always the greater minds because of our vision of contrasts. This contrast we have is the contrast that looks upward toward the bettering of ourselves, of our friends, of our country, of the world we live in. It does not look down from a pharisaical height to the horrors and degradation of hell. It looks up toward the joy and usefulness of heaven.

We do not believe in a Garden of Eden from which we have been flung. We believe in a garden to which, with the help of the divinity within ourselves, as men, we can go.

Take time at railroad crossings—or take eternity.—Norfolk Virginia-Pilot.

LINES FROM 'IN MEMORIAM'

I envy not in any moods
The captive void of noble rage,
The linnet born within the cage,
That never knew the summer woods;

I envy not the beast that takes
His license in the fields of time,
Unfettered by the sense of crime,
To whom a conscience never wakes;

Nor, what may count itself as blest
The heart that never plighted troth
But stagnates in the weeds of sloth;
Nor any want-begotten rest.

I hold it true, whate'er befall;
I feel it, when I sorrow most,
'Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.

—Tennyson.

Good Old Days, Then And Now

This age is jazz mad, we are told repeatedly. Many people past their youth shake their heads and hark back to the good old days. But were they good old days? Was humanity any better then than now? Would the most long-faced of the jazz opponents really go back to the old days if they had a chance? Most certainly they would not. Yes, times have changed and the change is greater than we realize. The contrast between this generation and the last is great. The transition has come about gradually but were we to be set back thirty or forty years those who sigh for the good old days would be the first to complain.

Our mode of living has been so completely transformed in the past three or four decades that we have problems to meet today that were never dreamed of then. If we are not meeting them in the right spirit or solving them as we should it does not follow that we are any worse today than we were a generation ago. Life was simpler then and our problems were fewer and more easily solved.

A writer says we have made such a marvelous advance in material things in the past few years and have stood still spiritually so that civilization is like a rubber band, one end stretched to its limit, representing our progress in science and invention, the other held fast by age-old ideas in religion, morals and politics. This rubber, he says, unless released at the spiritual end must break.

If there is one criticism this generation deserves it is that we do not know how to use our leisure to the best advantage. Life is so much easier in some ways today. The change in our manner of living and working, and many labor-saving inventions have brought us leisure time and change has come upon us so swiftly that we have not yet had time to get our bearings. We seem to think we must spend this extra time in amusing ourselves and this is an occupation that soon palls when over-indulged in. Eight hours work, eight hours sleep and eight hours play is a motto that appeals to some, with no provisions made for self-improvement. Others favor twenty-four hours' amusement. But we are even now learning the folly of too much play. It leads to disaster more quickly than too much work.

At any rate we do not wish to go back to the old days. Civilization is in a process of evolution and we should find it very difficult to live as we lived in a generation ago and work as we worked then. What were every-day tasks for us then would be real hardships for us now, accustomed, as we are, to all sorts of devices for making life easier and pleasanter. If we consider the contrast between conditions then and now we will never sigh for the good old days.

Horoscope

Copyright, 1924, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Divergent influences are strong today, according to astrology. Although Neptune and Saturn are both in benefic aspect, Uranus is adverse.

Again there is a good sign for oil discoveries and the exploitation of new land.

This is a sway under which the temptation to speculate may be strong, but the judgment may be untrustworthy.

There will be much interest in what is old during the summer when historic places will be much visited.

Neptune promises fair winds and many pleasant experiences to those who begin journeys today.

It should be lucky to travel on either land or water while this configuration prevails.

Labor continues under a direction of the stars making for increase of power, but there may be much unemployment early in the autumn.

This is not an auspicious rule for aviators who should defer flights that promise unusual perils.

The seers declare that there is to be an invention which will change the theory of aeroplane building and will make flying comparatively safe.

Among the prophecies is the establishment of stationary aerial stations or harbors for navigators of the sky.

Much criticism and gossip regarding public men is indicated by the aspects which appear to forecast many personalities in political campaigning.

The position of Uranus should benefit all the labor with the hands as well as merely with the brain.

Persons whose birth date it is have the forecast of a year of good fortune, but they should avoid removals or far travels.

Children born on this date should be very successful in all their undertakings. These subjects of Gemini usually rise quickly in any profession they adopt. Both girls and boys may be restless and impatient to attain their ambitions.

Christian Endeavor Society Holds Meet

Preceding the baccalaureate service last night the Intermediate Christian Endeavor society of the Glendale Presbyterian church held a fine meeting.

The young people were happy to greet Mrs. Howard L. Brown, assistant superintendent, who has been ill for several months.

"Running the Race" was the topic of the meeting. Emma Laura Cooper and Charlotte Busby were the leaders. A greeting was given by Paul Edmonds, with response by Neal Sooy. Later Rev. W. K. Edmonds spoke.

Just before the meeting was dismissed the twenty high school graduates in the society marched out before the others.

Preceding the meeting the boys enjoyed a "feed" and song practice.

CONCERT WILL BE STAGED ON LAWN

Symphony Orchestra Artists Will Present Program At High School

Next Friday night, June 20, the Glendale Community Symphony orchestra will present an open-air concert on the lawn in front of the Harvard street High school at 8 o'clock.

This orchestra, which is composed of fifty artists, has been rehearsing regularly under the direction of J. Arthur Meyers. The concert to be presented Friday night will be the first of a series of concerts during the summer season.

Seats and Platform

A special feature of the evening's program will be a talk by Mrs. J. J. Carter, secretary of the Hollywood Bowl association, who has been largely responsible for the summer symphony concerts and the existence of the bowl.

Mrs. Virginia Freeman, well known Glendale vocalist and teacher, will be the soloist for the evening.

The Community Service organization is installing a lighting system and a platform for the orchestra and will arrange seats on the lawn for those in attendance at the concert.

Military Funeral for Ship Victims Tuesday

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Solemn military tribute will mark the memorial services here Tuesday for the forty-eight U. S. S. Mississippi explosion victims, according to plans made today.

This afternoon the bodies will be removed to a field overlooking the sea. There the flag-draped caskets of the enlisted men will be placed in five rows and in front will rest the bodies of the three officers.

Full crews from the U. S. S. Mississippi and New Mexico and men from seven other dreadnaughts will attend with the highest officials of the navy on the Pacific coast.

Automobile baby carriages now in use have a stand at the back for the attendant.

Tax Collector's Report Reveals Huge Increase

Reflecting business conditions in various lines of trade in Southern California, a report of federal tax collections for eleven months of the fiscal year ending on May 30, which was sent to Washington today by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell, disclosed increases in tax receipts, over the corresponding period of 1923, running as high as 79 per cent.

Income receipts for the eleven months were $34,661,319, compared with $28,398,921 for the same months of the 1923 fiscal year, a gain of 6,262,398, or 21.7 per cent.

Total collections were $45,713,717, as against $38,281,536, an increase of $7,432,181, or 20 per cent.

Documentary stamps sales were $1,358,969, compared with $1,042,855, a gain of 30 per cent.

Theatre admission taxes were $2,921,597, against $2,288,344, an increase of 27 per cent.

Theatre taxes, based on seating capacity were $32,973, a gain of 26 per cent.

Taxes on bowling alleys and billiard halls were $46,937, an increase of 23 per cent.

Taxes collected on oleo were $50,078, a gain of 47 per cent.

Telephone and telegraph messages contributed $323,419, an increase of 24 per cent.

Manufactures of auto trucks paid $151,329, an increase of 37 per cent.

Candy manufacturers' tax bill was $228,504, an increase of 16 per cent.

Jewelry dealers paid $821,622, an increase of 30 per cent.

Manufacturers' excise tax collections on carpets, rugs, trucks, etc., registered a 79 per cent increase.

Tax receipts for automobiles for hire were $33,666, an increase of 18 per cent.

Country and athletic clubs furnished $381,235, an increase of 26 per cent.

Britain to Retaliate For Envoy's Expulsion

LONDON, June 16.—Intimation was given in authoritative quarters this afternoon that Great Britain will take "strong action" as a result of the Mexican government's decree expelling H. A. Cumins, British charge d'affaires in Mexico.

It is generally believed that England will halt plans already under way for recognition of the Obregon administration. The government has already appointed a representative to go to Mexico City to make an investigation and it was understood this would be followed by a recommendation that England follow the action of the United States in recognizing the Mexico City government.

Foreign office officials claimed that the British charge d'affaires at Mexico City had the full status and rights of an accredited diplomat, which emphasized the importance of the incident.

DRY WEEDS FORM MENACE TO FIRE

Chief Lankford Points Out Danger to Homes and Business Blocks

"In spite of the fact that the fire department and the engineering department are issuing from twelve to twenty notices daily, there are still a great number of vacant lots grown high with weeds and dry grass that constitute a very grave menace from fire," says Fire Chief A. H. Lankford. "A carelessly dropped cigarette, or burning match might cause a fire of serious proportions and endanger, if not destroy, numerous homes and business establishments in the danger zone. A small fire and a strong wind can rapidly develop into a conflagration difficult to cope with.

"This being the vacation season, many people are going away for weeks, leaving their homes unoccupied and unprotected. It, therefore, as a matter of safety, is most important that all dry grass or other fire hazard be removed before leaving for any length of time.

"With very small effort and in a very little time these lots can be cleaned up and put in a safe condition. Fire permits cost nothing and can be had at any time at Fire Station No. 1, 311 East Broadway.

"In the interest of safety and civic pride we should all endeavor to eliminate the dangerous hazards existing from these grass-grown lots," maintains Chief Lankford.

Heiress' Husband Is Broke, Actress Says

BERLIN, June 16—Count Ludwig Salm Von Hoogstraeten, Austrian nobleman who married Miss Millicent Rogers of New York, heiress to a $40,000,000 Standard Oil fortune, is "broke."

The count's plight was revealed today by his friend, Mlle. Lyia De Putti, beautiful Hungarian moving picture actress. It is understood that the count wishes to follow his bride of six months to the United States, but temporary setbacks are preventing.

Summer Is Here
Great Outdoors
City Life Sordid
Courts And Grief

By Gil A. Cowan

Summertime is here! Oh, yes it is. Visit the beaches and you would realize that Southern California is the ideal vacation land, too.

It seemed as though there were "millions" of people at the various resorts along the Pacific shores yesterday afternoon which the writer took occasion to visit.

And, had we gone to the mountains, undoubtedly we would have said the same.

Seems as though everybody is on the go here.

Glendale people are included.

Practically speaking, what is better for folks, anyway, than God's great out of doors?

To see the youngsters, and older ones, too, disporting on the sands was a real joy to the heart of any man.

Verily, it is a good old world that permits of such pleasure.

Speaking of pleasure reminds us of radio. There is unconfined pleasure in listening in to a concert almost any night—right in your own home, or that of a more fortunate neighbor if you do not have a radio set.

Information, music, bedtime stories, lectures, and even the noise of people eating at some of our more or less dignified banquets, come wafting through the ether.

One thing is certain about the radio. It has done more to make our farmer folk in this nation contented than any one thing.

It has brought to them the joys of city life without the sorrows.

City life is a sordid thing. Of course, one must look for the sunny side of things, instead of the seamy side. That is nice for editorial writers to talk about.

But the fellow who has to dig around the police station and the courts, the morgues and markets, sees things which the laymen need know but little of.

You read "scandal" in the papers, but it isn't half what might be told.

And you wonder how it all happens, for the average person has little to do with courts and catastrophes and grief, in general.

It is well, too, that the great body politic lives in ignorance and bliss, for knowledge might bring efforts to revolutionize things, and that would make matters much worse, perhaps.

So many injustices in this old world, along with so many pleasures, are ofttimes confusing to the mind.

"Sunshine and Showers" best describes the mental condition of the newspaperman who has to deal with multiplex problems in the day's events.

For instance, you will be writing the story of the Mississippi disaster or the Hope Development school fire, only to follow it with something gleeful about Mr. Dawes being the "hell and Maria" of Coolidge's campaign.

In the old days they spoke of newspapermen as versatile writers, wielding facile pens.

Now you could say they are human grist mills, punching wicked typewriters.

By the way, if you know of any news—and there is no reason why you don't these busy days—take the trouble to phone Glendale 4000 and give it to the city editor or personal editor.

It's your co-operation that makes the paper better.

The Glendale Evening News wants it.

Five Houses In City Visited by Burglars

The residence of Charles H. Whitney at 364 Oak street was entered by robbers some time Saturday night and a one-half karat diamond ring taken, according to a report to police. Entrance was made by use of a pass-key.

The residence of E. M. Woolger at 119 Sinclair avenue was partially ransacked, entrance being made through a rear window. The residence of G. E. Farmer at 128 North Orange street was ransacked and merchandise stolen. The residence of W. E. Clark at 825 North Glendale avenue was broken into and currency, silverware and cigars removed. The residence of J. L. Wilbur at 247 West Dryden street, Casa Verdugo, was entered and a gold watch and lodge emblems stolen.

R. K. Johnson of 105 South Maryland avenue reports to the police the loss of his car at 9:30 o'clock last night, in Los Angeles.

Chicken Dinner for Shriners Is Planned

The Shrine Club of Glendale will be the hosts at a chicken dinner to be given at the Egyptian Village on Wednesday night, June 18, at 6:30 o'clock, when Shriners only will be permitted to attend. President Percy J. Hayselden points out that the last dinner was so successful that the attendance at that to be held Wednesday is certain to tax the capacity of the cafe to the limits.

Choir Members Will Stage Musical Farce

"Singing School" is to be held Tuesday night at the First Methodist church by members of the choir. It will be a musical farce in two acts, beginning at 8 o'clock. Lots of humor and good music is promised in the program.

Our Deepest Appreciation

WE were completely overwhelmed by the dedication which Glendale gave its first "sky-scraper" and its first metropolitan banking room last Saturday afternoon and evening.

IF THERE are any in this community who doubt that Glendale has a population of 50,000, they do not include the officers and employes of this bank. The thousands of handclasps and well-wishes which we received warmed our hearts and made us glad indeed. It made us proud to be a part of "The Fastest Growing City in America."

The edition of 10,000 copies of the souvenir booklets, "First of the Ranchos, the Story of Glendale," was completely exhausted. We are rushing through a second edition in response to hundreds of demands this morning and will have it ready for distribution by the first of next week.

The exhibit of pictures so greatly admired Saturday will be continued in our mezzanine floor as long as people desire to see it.

If you were unable to come to the reception Saturday, come in now and see one of the finest banking rooms on the Coast and enjoy the picture exhibit. And, while here, give us an opportunity to meet you. We want to make your acquaintance!

GOES TO GOTHAM FOR CONVENTION

Miss Octavia Leseuer Is Alternate to Meeting of Democrats

BURBANK, June 16.—Miss Octavia Leseuer of 101 East San Fernando road leaves for New York tomorrow, as alternate delegate to the national Democratic convention. Miss Lloy Galpin of Eagle Rock, who was a candidate for congress two years ago, is the delegate from this, the ninth district, and she appointed Miss Leseuer as alternate. In this capacity, Burbank's citizen will have a seat on the convention floor and will vote on any occasion when Miss Galpin is not present.

In making this appointment, the Democrats will be loyally and efficiently represented, for Miss Leseuer has peen a life-long Democrat and all her life has been more or less in political circles.

Her father was at one time secretary of state of Missouri and a prominent leader in politics. In her childhood in Oklahoma and later in Missouri. Miss Leseuer was with her father in all his political activities, and has carried this interest through the succeeding years.

Boosters Organize

The Burbank Valley Booster association is the newest body of enterprising citizens to form themselves into a unit for the promotion and the advancement of this city, and particularly the valley portion of it which lies below the Southern Pacific tracks.

Officers were elected as follows: President, L. H. Boydston; first vice-president, W. E. Wickline; second vice-president, J. T. Shelton; secretary, D. G. Rennie, treasurer, John A. Sommer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Childs of San Jose are spending two weeks as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Maurice at their home on Verdugo avenue. Mrs. Childs is a sister of Mrs. Maurice.

PLANS EXCLUSIVE CLUB FOR WOMEN

Annette Kellerman to Have Unusual Arrangement Near Sunland

SUNLAND, June 16.—Tennis, golf, swimming pools and a gymnasium, exclusively for women, are the attractions to be embodied in a club to cost between $15,000 and $20,000, that is to be built in the near future by Annette Kellerman, internationally famous as a beauty and health authority.

Miss Kellerman plans to build her club on mountain-side property overlooking Rainbow valley, about two miles west of Sunland. Preliminary negotiations have been made toward acquiring the desired property.

The club will be the only one of its kind in the country, if the proposed project materializes, according to Miss Kellerman's plans. It will be elaborately appointed with all club features and will have some innovations not heretofore attempted by any country club.

ELECTRIC SIREN TESTS ARE MADE

Foothill Towns Planning to Install Fire Alarm System Shortly

TUJUNGA, June 16.—An electric siren belonging to J. M. Huntington was demonstrated in different parts of Tujunga to determine its effectiveness in spreading a fire alarm. The siren operates from any electric light socket and costs but $35, and gives a clear, piercing alarm.

The range of the siren is not great, however, and if this type is adopted it will require at least two of them to spread an alarm that could be heard simultaneously in Tujunga and Sunland. It is doubtful if even two of them would be effective on a windy day, such as are sometimes experienced in the hills, when it is very difficult to hear any kind of alarm.

The Huntington siren was sounded in the eastern part of Tujunga, and was not heard at the office of the Sunland telephone company on Palm avenue, which is half-way to Sunland, about a mile to the west. However, it is considered by some of the residents that three of these sirens, located at strategic points in the valley and operated simultaneously from any of the three stations, would afford a very efficient alarm system for the present and at a cost of less than one-fourth of the siren that was at first considered, which cost $400.

Morticians Plan to Dedicate New Chapel

TUJUNGA, June 16.—Tuesday night, June 17, the Tujunga Undertaking company will dedicate its new chapel at 157 west Michigan avenue at a twilight service from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Rev. J. U. Stotts, pastor of the Tujunga Community church, will be in charge of the ceremony and Mrs. Sweet and Mrs. Wright and other members of the church will give a musical program.

INSTALL OFFICERS AS YEAR CLOSES

Women's Club Inducts New Executives to Hold Posts During Next Term

LA CRESCENTA, June 16.—Women's club of La Crescenta closed its official club year this week with the installation of incoming officers. They are: President, Mrs. Charles Turck; first vice president, Mrs. C. A. Haskins; second vice president, Mrs. H. Reynolds; third vice president, Mrs. M. Howard; fourth vice president, Mrs. E. Armstrong, appointed in place of Mrs. Viola Waddel, who resigned, as she is going on a political lecture tour; recording secretary, Mrs. A. B. Cochran; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Tom Minford; parliamentarian, Mrs. Pinkus; historian and press chairman, Mrs. Mary B. Darrow.

Many new sections are to be organized with the opening of the new club year in the fall.

A club book will be printed for the first time in the history of the organization. The Litany will be read as the opening prayer of each meeting and a salute to the flag will also be given. A cooked food sale is to be held on each business meeting day.

Department Heads

The new section of philanthopy is now in charge of Mrs. G. Sluteman, who will be assisted by Mrs. C. O. Miller. Mrs. Tilliary will be in charge of the Montrose end of this section.

Mrs. R. Q. MacDonald is chairman of the music section, Mrs. Jessie Hansen of the drama section, and Mrs. C. Klatt of the building committee; study of Americanism, Mrs. W. Singleton; program, Mrs. E. Armstrong; courtesy, Mrs. H. Reynolds; decorating, Mrs. F. Kimball; flowers committee, Mrs. E. Pritchard; emergency, Mrs. Louise Erwin; ways and means, Mrs. Anna Aiken; calling committee, Mrs. A. W. Brown; chaplain, Mrs. Charles Collins; custodian, Mrs. T. O. Potts. A section for the study of parliamentary law will meet before each regular club session.

Mrs. Turck took her office with an appropriate speech of thanks for the honor the club members had conferred upon her in making her their present.

WILL SEND CREW TO LOCATE ROAD

Surveyors to Fix Route to Big Tujunga Canyon, Says Supervisor

TUJUNGA, June 16.—A letter has been received by the Tujunga Chamber of Commerce from Supervisor Wright stating that surveyors would be sent to locate the new road into Big Tujunga canyon as soon as there were men available for the work. The county surveyors are all busy on other projects at the present time, the letter stated.

A crew of men has recently done some work on the old county road into the canyon. The work is of a temporary nature and is only meant to serve until the new road is ready. The Big Tujunga is becoming one of the most popular outing places in Southern California and hundreds of hikers and automobile parties explore it every week. The road is in good condition and machines of any kind can make the trip without difficulty. Many private cabins have been built in the canyon and the owners spend week-ends there. Others go to the camps at Wildwood Lodge where every accommodation for the vacationist has been provided.

WEDDING UNITES POPULAR COUPLE

with rose petals which she scattered in the bride's path.

Miss Wheeler wore a beautiful white bridal gown of crepe de chine with shirring on the sides. Her bridal veil was long and fastened in place with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white bride's roses and lilies of the valley. She was given in marriage by her father, Stanley C. Wheeler.

Mr. Williams was attended by his brother, Harry Williams, as best man.

Cut Wedding Cake

Immediately after the ceremony an informal reception was held when Mrs. Williams cut her wedding cake which was served with the refreshments.

Mrs. Williams and her parents have resided in Glendale for the past four years. She graduated from the local high school and also the Glendale Commercial school.

Mr. Williams and his parents have resided in Glendale for three years, coming here from Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams have many friends here and in Los Angeles and were the recipients of many lovely gifts. They will make their home at 6119¼ Sierra Villa drive, Eagle Rock.

YEAR'S BUILDING TOTALS $700,000

Van Nuys' Growth Shown by Figures Assembled on Construction

VAN NUYS, June 16.—Building permits have reached $700,000 for the year, May alone adding $63,109 to the total.

During the month nine new dwellings were started within the one mile square townsite and 18 in the immediately adjacent territory. The record for the month of May this year is more than half the value of the entire construction here in 1916, showing the resarkable development and progress of less than a decade.

The 1924 record by months is as follows:

	Van Nuys	Annex
January	$108,415	$292,177
February	143,895	397,265
March	146,711	471,533
April	212,559	523,798
May	63,109	332,453
Total	$674,689	$2,018,026

Will Receive Gym

On Saturday night, June 14, the new $50,000 gymnasium at Van Nuys high school was turned over to the public with a "Gym Jinks" or house-warming put on by the various student organizations and alumni. The affair started promptly at 8 o'clock and with concession booths and variods sideshow attractions the gymnasium was transformed into a miniature Coney Island.

The boys' glee club had carefully rehearsed a minstrel show that proved to be one of the outstanding features of the evening. Songs, dances and comedy gags enlivened this part of the program.

Advices yesterday from O. J. Renfrew, secreary, state that the June meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of San Fernando valley will be held at Reseda School House, Reseda, on Tuesday night, June 17, at 7 o'clock.

The adoption of new by-laws and other important matters will come before this meeting and the attendance of the entire directorate is desired.

ELECT OFFICERS OF WOMEN'S CLUB

Mrs. Flora A. White Chosen President for Coming Term by Members

TUJUNGA, June 16.—Mrs. Flora A. White, 242 South Monte Vista boulevard, has been elected to succeed Mrs. Nelson E. Jones as president of the Tujunga Woman's club.

Mrs. E. T. Theobald was re-elected recording secretary and Miss Elizabeth Benedict was re-elected auditor. Other officers elected were: Vice President, Mrs Florence Fenno; treasurer, Mrs. George Buck; director, Mrs. Nelson E. Jones, retiring president.

Popular Choice

Mrs. White was the popular choice of the club members for the principal office of the organization because of her active and effective work in the past. Mrs. Jones declined to accept a nomination for re-election, pleading pressing personal affairs that could not be neglected.

Mrs. Jones was elected a director to succeed Mrs. L. May Dean, whose term of office expires this year. Mrs. Dean has served the club in an official capacity for eight years, being among the first members when the club was founded. Other members of the board of directors are Mrs. Harriet Mills and Mrs. Lillian Wheeler.

ruler, and an outstanding figure in this locality because of his position as United States attorney for Southern California, outlined in his address the principles of Elkdom and explained how they were exemplified in the flag.

Musical numbers on the program were rendered by the Elks' orchestra, a duet, "Land of Hope and Glory," by May A. Trude and Vera LaMar; a solo, "America Triumphant" by Miss LaMar, and a solo, "The Flag Without a Stain," by Edwin John Albright.

New Leader Assumes Charge of Boy Scouts

MONTROSE, June 16.—The Boy Scout patrol, No. 1, will meet tonight under their new leader, Scoutmaster Murdy, for the first time.

The patrol will meet from now on out of doors, and on Monday nights, but tonight the meeting will be, as usual, in the Montrose school house at 7 o'clock.

A generator in which steam may be produced without boiling is said to have proved a success in tests.

CLUBS TO JOIN KIWANIS EVENT

Special Sessions Planned as Annual Convention Is Opened at Denver

TUJUNGA, June 16.—"All Kiwanis Night," June 16, and the opening of the Eighth Annual International Kiwanis convention in Denver, Colorado, on the same date will be observed simultaneously at 6:45 p. m. by 1240 Kiwanis clubs throughout the United States and Canada. The Tujunga club will meet in special session at that time at the Garden of the Moon on Michigan avenue, Tujunga.

It is the first time in the history of any club, so far as is known, that such a program has been attempted. The clubs will all arrange their meetings to allow for the difference in time in the different parts of the country and all will join in the same program at the same hour.

Identical Programs

For fifteen minutes at the "zero hour" the clubs will follow identical programs that will include a "fellowship moment of silence," reading of a message from Edmund F. Arras, president of Kiwanis International, patriotic songs of the United States and Canada and a fellowship song, "Onward in Kiwanis," written by George S. Holmes, president of the Denver club. At the Tujunga meeting messages from Carroll W. Parcher and Arthur C. Stover, delegates attending the Denver convention, will be read. A message from President Arras, broadcast by radio, will be received on the Garden of the Moon receiving set.

This united action will bring together 88,000 Kiwanians in over 1200 cities and will demonstrate the national significance of a voluntary service organization such as the Kiwanis in the progress of the communities they serve.

PLANS TO ATTEND DEMOCRAT MEET

Miss Lloy Galpin Chosen as Convention Delegate to New York

EAGLE ROCK, June 16.—Miss Lloy Galpin of this community will be in attendance at the national Democratic convention in New York as the official delegate of the ninth district. Two years ago Mis Galpin was a candidate for congress and is well known in Southern California for her educational and dramatic work.

Local books on the subject of poultry are far more practical than eastern publications, and Eagle Rock could not have any better book than Mrs. J. W. Koethan's "Poultry for Profit," according to Mrs. Blanche A. Gardiner, local librarian. This book has done more to help people to raise chickens than any other work of its kind. Week's "Egg Farming in California" and Swaysgood's "California Poultry Practice" are also in considerable demand.

Study Wild Birds

Miss Helen Pratt of 2451 Ridge View avenue recently entertained the Los Angeles Audubon society in her garden at a special field day meeting. The society spends one day a month in the open studying wild birds, and in Eagle Rock they enjoyed the wild flowers as well as the wild birds.

After a morning in the hills, forty members of the society gathered for luncheon under a sycamore tree on the middle terrace, surrounded by Matilija poppies. A bird bath and mulberry tree stood at the entrance, and below on the lower terrace a California carpet of native wild flowers with a screen of native shrubs.

Among those present were Mrs. F. T. Bicknell, past president of the Los Angeles Audubon society; Mrs. Warren J. Holden, the incoming president; Mrs. C. B. Raitt, vice president; Mrs. A. J. Mix, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Fargo, program chairman, all of Los Angeles.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. J. E. Donnell, June 13, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Bertha Belcher, county superintendent of the Flower Mission, was present.

NEW OFFICE FOR LUMBER COMPANY

Bettingen Interests Keep an Immense Timber Stock at La Crescenta

LA CRESCENTA, June 16.—Justifying their belief in the business future of the La Crescenta valley, the Bettingen Lumber company has added a new yard to its chain in this valley.

The new yard is under the management of J. M. Green, who has lived here for the last two years. The office building is finished in the Spanish style, tan in color; the interior is to be finished in mahogany with counters of the same wood. Mr. Green states about one-half million feet will be carried in the yard stock, while approximately 200,000 feet of finished stock will be kept on hand in the sheds.

The new plant is located on the southwest corner of Mayfield and Pennsylvania avenues.

A Greater Glendale Achieved

The larger a city grows the more self-sufficient it becomes. There was a time when Glendale people had to go out of town to buy certain things; only the most common of staple articles were carried by the merchants here. Every day sees Glendale becoming more metropolitan; sees us branching out into lines that heretofore had seemed too citified for us. We have come to the time when it is scarcely necessary for our people to go out of town to buy anything—necessities or luxuries of any kind or description. Fine stores, splendid stocks of merchandise, city service, highly trained professional workers, men skilled in all trades are here.

It rests with the people to give Glendale stores their trade and Glendale people their work. We are trying to reach a population of a hundred thousand people, we are considering ways and means of bringing new people and new industries here. The first step toward the Community Development at which we are aiming is strict loyalty to the community on the part of those already here.

We must support the business we have and the industries we have. We must help to keep the business of our city up to par for our population, and if we are going to grow in numbers our business activity and volume must increase accordingly.

An attractive and an active retail district is one of the essentials of a growing city, and a city that aims to continue in growth. Patronage is necessary to keep business alive and active.

The advertisers on this page have been preaching the gospel of Community Loyalty and Community Pride in order to foster Community Development. The people have responded nobly and have cooperated splendidly with the merchants in this campaign. A Greater Glendale has resulted and will result from this concerted effort and interest on the part of merchants and patrons.

SOX MAKE IT EIGHTEEN STRAIGHT WINS

SUBDUE GILMORE OILERS SATURDAY 13-12; DEFEAT CARMEN 6-0 ON SUNDAY

3000 Attend Baseball Booster Day Contest

The old fighting spirit which has made the White Sox known and feared throughout Southern California, enabled Carl Sawyer's proteges to overcome the dangerous Gilmore Oilers, 13 to 12, Saturday afternoon, and added Win No. 17 to their long string of consecutive victories. The game was marked by frequent hard hitting, three men getting home runs.

The game was the big feature attraction for Baseball Booster day, and close to 3,000 baseball fans were present. Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick, president of the Southern California Baseball Managers' association; "Big Bill" Traeger, sheriff of Los Angeles county, and Mayor Spencer Robinson were among the notables present.

The Gilmore team offered to play a regular Summer league game when it became apparent that the team from the U. S. S. New Mexico, champions of the Pacific fleet, would be unable to appear on account of the terrible explosion aboard the U. S. S. Mississippi, which took a toll of forty-eight lives.

Sounds Like Fiction

The account of Saturday's tilt reads like fiction, where the home team faces defeat in the last inning, and the pitcher wins his own game after two are down and the scorekeepers are just about ready to charge a defeat to him. Reiger, Elmer, if you please, one-time hurler for Salt Lake, who worked on the mound for the White Sox, crossed the plate with the winning run after getting a double with two down.

Only ten Oilers faced Reiger in the first three innings. In the fourth, with the Sox leading 8 to 0, Beaumiller got a scratch hit to center. Coleman was walked. Walsh flied out to Dorman. Carlisle slammed the old apple over right field fence, scoring Beaumiller and Coleman ahead of him for the for the Oilers' first three runs. Reiger tightened up and fanned Leake and O'Shea.

Shelly Gets Homer

In the same inning, after Dorman had walked, Shields out on a bunt to Leake, and Sawyer flied out to Davis, Shellenbach rapped one over the right field fence. The third home run of the day came in the first half of the sixth and was made by Walsh after Coleman had hit to center.

The fifth inning was hard on the Sox. Ennis, former Sox catcher, was walked. Wallace singled. Davis walked, filling the bases. Beaumiller flied out to Sawyer. Coleman singled over shotstop's head, scoring Ennis and Wallace. Walsh walked. Carlisle drove one to right field fence, which Orsatt muffed, Coleman scoring and Walsh taking third. Carlisle was caught trying to steal second, Sullivan to Sawyer. Leake singled, scoring Walsh, and later stole second. O'Shea walked, going to second on Ennis' single to center. Orsatt ended the inning by catching Wallace's fly.

With the score tied 11 all in the seventh inning, O'Shea walked after Leake had hit to Young, who made a pretty running catch. O'Shea stole second. Ennis drove one to Young. Wallace singled and O'Shea broke the tie. Davis fanned. The Sox evened up the score again in the eighth when Sawyer got a double and scored on Shellenbach's double.

Carlisle went out, Hirigoyen to Shellenbach, Leake fanned, and Hirigoyen caught O'Shea's pop-up in the first half of the ninth. Prospects of an extra inning game loomed as the White Sox took the field, but the old fighting spirit cropped up.

Hirigoyen tried hard to lift one to the outfield, but O'Shea gathered it in and sent it buzzing to Leake for the first out. Sullivan got under one and it looked good for two bases, but Coleman speared it. Reiger then got his double, a terrific drive to right. Young was walked, Dorman hit one to deep center and Reiger came in with the winning run.

Pacific Electrics Fail To Travel Beyond Second Base

Pitching classy ball when the occasion demanded, changing his pace when the batters least expected it, and generally causing grief to settle over the opposition camp, "Blackie" Parsons, a marine on the U. S. S. New Mexico, materially aided and assisted the Glendale White Sox to mark up their win No. 18 yesterday, when the Pacific Electrics returned to their own bailiwick after a 6-to-0 defeat at the San Fernando park.

Parsons held the invaders to three scratch hits, Evans getting the only extra base bingle made by the visitors. Further than this, not a Pacific Electric runner got beyond second during the entire game, and the only P. E. man who knew what third base looked like was Drunert, familiar Pasadena Merchantman, who tried to play that position.

The victory not only gave the White Sox their eighteenth straight win, shattering their own previous record, but it cinched the flag in the Summer league for them, as the local team has played every team in the league twice, with the exception of El Segundo, and has returned victors in all.

Jensen On Mound

Al Jensen, who pitched for the trolley men on their last visit here, was on the mound again yesterday., He pitched excellent ball, allowing only four hits, but was given poor support. Shellenbach succeeded in getting a triple off Jensen in the third. Dorman Shields and Parson got singles.

The home team opened up their batting barrage in the second inning. Sawyer got on through an error by Morgan. Shellenbach sent one to Evans, which he muffed. Orsatt lived through a fielder's choice, and everybody was safe. Jensen got unsteady, and walked Hirigoyen, forcing in a score. Sullivan rapped one out and Shellenbach went out, Jensen to Allec. Parsons got a single through first base, and Orsatt and Hirigoyen scored. Young flied out to Drunert and Dorman was thrown out, Drunert to Fitzgerald.

Two more runs were brought in in the following inning on a single by Shields and a triple by Shellenbach. The Sox' final counter came in the fourth inning, Parsons scoring. Jensen tightened up things and the Sox finished the game without crossing the plate again.

Only Three Safe Hits

The three safe hits the P. E. men made came in the second, fifth and seventh innings. Evans' double was the inftial bingle. Fitzgerald got one in the fifth and Myers connected with one in the seventh.

Parsons struck out eight men, while Jensen fanned only two. Six of the trolley crew were walked by Parsons. Jensen walked two.

With the exception of the second, third and fourth innings, when the Sox did their scoring, not more than three men faced Jensen in each frame. The trolley crew played airtight ball after the Sox had counted up their runs.

DIVIDE DOUBLE

SACRAMENTO, June 16.—The Solons and Bees divided yesterday's double bill here, the locals getting the first game 3 to 1, and the visitors taking a slugfest in the afternoon, 17 to 3. In the second game the Bees got twenty-five base hits, pounding Thompson, Hall and James. Mulcahy went the route for the Bees. Canfield pitched for the Solons in the morning game, with Kallio on the mound for the visitors.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924

Carpentier is still a real drawing card. Francois Descamps has to keep a card index of bouts that are offered. Lots of them are good ones from a financial standpoint, too.

The trouble is that Descamps agreed to box Gene Tunney if Billy Gibson, the Marine's manager would lay off interfering with the Carpentier-Gibbons fight. Now Francois wants Gibson to set back the Tunney engagement again so that Carp can grab off a lot of the good money now offered—money be it noted, that might not be offered were the Orchid man to be flattened by Gene. This may well happen for, while Tunney is a first class good fellow, his heart is not so large and his instincts not so sympathetic as Tommy Gibbons' are.

LEGION ANNEXES 9 OUT OF 10 GAMES

Take Color Away From Paint Company With 4 to 1 Score

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

The Glendale Buddies made it nine of ten games won yesterday when they subdued the Pasadena Paint and Decorating company's baseball nine in the curtain-raiser at White Sox park, 4-1. The Crown City boys made their lone tally in the first. Buck Brandon came in on Jacque's high fly but muffed it. Successive bingles by Orr and Jones and an error by L. Harrison sent the Pasadena shortstop home.

The Legion men knotted the score in their half of the first, when L. Harrison drove one over the right field fence. In the third, L. Harrison laid down a pretty bunt and beat out the throw. His brother, G. Harrison, singled through second, sending L. Harrison to third. Flanders sacrificed G. Harrison to second. Scholl to Havers. Brandon died, Jacque to Havers, then Jack Kazmark hit over the fence. The ball was hit squarely but soared high into the air, dropping over the fence with few feet to spare. Kazmark was given a big hand by the assembled multitude. Gabbage ended the inning when, after being hit by a pitched ball, he was flagged, pilfering the keystone bag.

Orr of the Pasadena crew featured with the big stick work for his teammates, getting two clouts and a pass in three trips to the plate. Charlie Flanders, veteran of the old sand lot games of several years ago, was on the job for the buddies at short. He accepted four hard chances without a miscue. Garret, although a little wild, pitched good ball for the Legion. He fanned five of the opposing batters in as many innings. The box score:

DUCKS TOP SUDS

PORTLAND, June 16.—By virtue of winning the final game of the series, Portland yesterday topped the Suds, four games to three. The first game went to the visitors, 6 to 4, but the second was won by the Beavers, 10 to 2. Williams and Cregg pitched for Seattle in the opening game, and Bagby and Sutherland worked in the final tilt. Leverenz went the route in the first for Portland, and Rachac held the Suds down in the second.

Murphy Wins Race At Altoona; Jerry Wonderlich Is Hurt

ALTOONA, Pa., June 16.—Jimmy Murphy, veteran driver, won first place in the 250-mile automobile race here Saturday afternoon, his average speed of 114 miles an hour setting a new track record. He finished six miles ahead of Fred Comer. Third place went to Antonine Mourre, Frenchman. Intermittent rainfall during the race made the track dangerous, and Jerry Wonderlich was seriously injured when his car skidded and crashed into the infield fence. Hartz was second. Murphy made but one stop, to change a tire, but was away again in eight and a fraction seconds.

El Segundo Too Much For Gilmore Oilers

While the White Sox were defeating the Pacific Electrics here, the El Segundo team was giving the Gilmore Oilers a trimming at El Segundo. It was the second defeat in as many days for the Oilers. Bell held the Oilers scoreless until the ninth inning. After three runs had been made and the bases were full, Bell tightened down the hatches and fanned Beaumiller for the final out. The Oilers collected seven hits off Bell, while El Segundo got nine off Robertson and Raleigh. Wallace, former Angel hurler, was not used by the Oilers.

Riverside High Wins Southland Title Tilt

RIVERSIDE, June 16.—The southern California high school baseball championship today rests in the Riverside Poly camp, following the 6-to-3 victory of the local boys over El Monte here Saturday. The game was witnessed by one of the largest crowds that ever gathered for a diamond battle. Features of the game were two home runs made in the fourth inning by Strickland and Bevington, both of Riverside, one after the other. McQurtry hurled for the winners, while Johnston twirled for El Monte.

TIGERS SPLIT

OAKLAND, June 16.—The Vernon Tigers today are pulling stakes at this baseball camp, but not until they have left behind them the series of last week, which was annexed by Oakland by their unusual playing yesterday when they took both games of the double header, 2 to 1 and 10 to 5.

The morning game was won by Buzz Arlett, with a homer in the eighth. His triple in the sixth enabled the Oaks to tie the score. Shellenbach started the early game for the visitors, but gave way to Thomas. Kunz pitched for Oakland.

George Boehler held the Tigers scoreless for eight innings in the second game, while his teammates were getting 10 runs. The Tigers tried to save the game in the ninth and sent across five runs.

ANGELS CAPTURE SERIES, TURN IN TWO VICTORIES

Seals Trimmed 7-6 In First Contest and 5 to 4 In Second Game

LOS ANGELES, June 16. — By grabbing the two final games of their series from the Seals yesterday the Angels retrieved themselves before a mob of bleacherites who insisted that Marty Krug's men play baseball instead of soccer.

Doc Crandall heaved his way to a 7-6 victory in the first game while the Seals had Scott, Shea, Burger and Geary successively in the box. In the last session Dumovich allowed San Francisco four runs in the first and was relieved by Payne who held them down to nothing more and the Angels won, 5 to 4.

Such popularity must be deserved

BIG HITS don't just happen. Popularity doesn't come ready-made.

In pictures, plays or products, success must be built on something REAL.

Thus Chesterfield's swift rise to popularity was no accident. Smokers were ready for a better cigarette and in Chesterfield they found it.

Taste convinced them. That's why men are turning by thousands to Chesterfield.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M.D.
Author of Diet and Health, with Key to the Caolries

DOWN! BY JUMPS

Jumping (rope or anything) is a most excellent exercise for weight reduction, for those who can take strenuous exercises. But that kind of jumping is not the subject I'm going to write on today.

I want to give instructions to those of you who are dolorous because the diet upon which you have been reducing beautifully, after a certain point apparently becomes your maintenance diet and no weight is lost. Quite a number of you have been complaining of this peevish strike of the reducing diet. The reason is two-fold:

First, your system has accustomed itself to a lower intake of food for its needs. Second, there isn't so much excess fat to furnish food for. Of course there is always the possibility that you have dieted well for four or five days, and then have practically undone the effect by over-eating in one day, or even one meal. How about that? Of course, if this is done, you cannot expect to lose.

For those of you who are really conscientious — and for those of you who are not conscientious, too, for that matter — and who really find that the 1200 calories or so a day, which formerly reduced, cease to reduce you, I advise one very low caloric day a week rather than cutting down the daily calories still further. On this one very low calorie day, not exceeding 500 or 600 calories, you will find that you will lose a pound or so, and your weight line will go down in jumps, or like a stairs, rather than in a steady decline.

For this one low caloric day, you can take anything you like, but I advise skim or buttermilk or fruit juices. I recommend especially one quart of skim or buttermilk and 12 large dates. That will average 620 calories (300 for the milk and 300 for the dates). The dates will give a good supply of iron, which milk is deficient in. It is best to make four meals of that total amount during the day, taking one glass of milk and three dates at a meal.

Because the dates and milk will not furnish sufficient bulk, you had better take one-half cup of cereal bran which you can count about 35 to 50 calories. That will furnish more minerals and vitamins. If you do not like bran take three or four tablespoons of agar. You can take the bran or agar in one of the glasses of milk, making a cereal of it. Pour hot water over the agar first. It really is quite palatable. It is a Japanese seaweed, no part of which is absorbed, so it won't register in calories. You can get this at the drug stores.

If you prefer, you may have some other fruit, or any of the following if you chew them until they are liquids—they are all approximately 100 calories each: One large apple, one large orange, one medium banana, one-half good-sized grapefruit, a small bunch of grapes, four medium sized prunes or plums, two medium figs; one quart of clear consomme (no fat); one large slice of bread, one-half inch thick; one shredded wheat biscuit or two triscuits; four ordinary crackers, about one pound of lettuce or spinach, or other greens (without oil or butter).

Those of you who have not been following our column perhaps do not know that we have an enormous reducing class distributed over the United States and Canada, and that we go on an average of 1200 calories a day and reduce on an average of one and one-half to two pounds a week. We are having the time of our young lives counting calories, making a game in which we are the winners. And we are improving our health, efficiency and looks one hundredfold, and therefore our happiness and the happiness of our friends and relations. We are lessening markedly our chances of getting diabetes, hardening of the arteries, kidney and heart diseases, high blood pressure, apoplexy, sudden deaths and a lot of other disagreeable and dangerous disorders. Want to join? We have the instructions in pamphlet form. You are welcome to them. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope and four cents in stamps.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a.s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Prize Winning Essays On Glendale's Progress Show Students' Pride In City

The essay contest that was inaugurated several weeks ago by the Lewis Jewelry Company, 133 North Brand boulevard, and in which the boys and girls of the Glendale Union High school were asked to participate, has brought to the contest judges a large number of essays that reveal marked talent and that have rendered the selection of the winners a difficult task. The theme selected was "The Growth and Progress of Glendale."

Two prizes were offered, one for the boys and one for the girls. The boys' prize, a 17-jewel Illinois watch, was won by Craig P. Smith, 700 South Columbus avenue, and the girls' prize, a beautiful rectangular white gold Benrus wrist watch, has been awarded to Mary Barbara Taylor, 2711 Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock.

"The essays that were submitted," says G. N. Stark, manager of the Lewis Jewelry company, "showed the most painstaking care, and the evidences of close research work were one of the most notable features of each one that was sent in. I am only sorry that the rules of the contest do not permit me to award a prize to every contestant, for every boy and girl really earned a premium by his or her efforts. What they have learned about their home city of Glendale during this contest is bound to inculcate in them a greater pride in Glendale and will tend strongly to make them better citizens of The Fastest Growing City in America."

The prize winning essays are printed in today's issue of The Glendale Evening News.

Fastest Growing City in the World

By MARY BARBARA TAYLOR

Forty years ago a traveler, coming to Los Angeles, chanced to traverse the spot where Glendale now stands. Desert sands, sage brush, and cactus extended welcome to the weary horseman. Slowly he wound his way toward his destination, hoping each moment that he might never again see this place.

Some years later a few enterprising settlers dreamed that someday, by their labors, this country might be made valuable, and, they started a settlement in Tropico. Agriculture opened her arms to these patriots and in a few years small farms began to flourish.

Gradually by the patient labor and tireless work of its patrons, the settlement gained increased population and assets.

Tropico products found their destination in Los Angeles markets and, because of their superior quality, larger quantities were sold each year.

The results of this success were: that the homes of the inhabitants were improved, more people came, and a new settlement was formed north of Tropico named Glendale. Soon industries of various kinds were created and educational institutions were formed. Each year more people found homes in Glendale until Glendale became the fastest growing city in the world.

While Glendale was growing in financial value and was becoming more thickly populated the citizens did not forget the welfare of their children. My proof of this statement is confined to the fact that they have developed one of the most advanced educational systems in the west. Grammar schools, with the best teachers available to instruct their classes, have been scattered at convenient intervals, throughout the town. The two high schools were provided that the young men and women might have advanced instruction.

The water supply and light system of Glendale are officially valued at a figure greater than one million dollars. There are about ninety miles of water mains and fire protection has been insured by the installation of three hundred fire hydrants.

Because of the central location, of the convenience of available transportation facilities, of the cooperation of the citizens, and of the financial status, many manufacturers and established wholesale and retail merchants have found Glendale the ideal city for their business background.

Glendale has several reliable banks, among these are: The First National Bank with resources of $1,984,000 and deposits of $1,800,000; The First Savings bank with resources of $247,000 and deposits of $194,000; The Glendale National Bank with resources of $573,838.72 and deposits of $699,038.36; Glendale Savings Bank with resources of $635,550.18 and with deposits of $574,303.04; and the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank with resources of $74,858,070.99 and deposits of $66,381,642.94. These figures were obtained by the publicity department of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

We shall now return to the traveler, whose journey we followed at first. While Glendale was growing, he was becoming successful. Finally he became tired of active life and concluded to take up his abode in some pleasant place, where he might enjoy the remainder of his life. Having searched the world over for a place to live, he finally returned to Glendale to make his home there.

The Growth and Progress of Glendale

By CRAIG P. SMITH

Nestling in the foothills at the base of the broad San Fernando valley, Glendale is truly proud of her slogan: The Fostest Growing City in America. She earned this slogan when she grew in population from 2,742 in 1910 to 13,358 in 1920, and thence to over 40,000 in 1923; in building permits from $500,000 in 1919 to over $10,000,000 in 1923; and in assessed valuation of property the figures jumped from less than $10,000,000 in 1920 to over $30,000,000 in 1923. Certainly no other city in all America can hope to show such a consistent growth in all respects.

It was but a few years ago that the present site of this bustling city was one large grape vineyard owned by a small group of Spanish ranchers. It was during the Spanish era in California that all the good land was cut into large tracts and given to royal favorites. The city of Glendale now occupies part of what was once the immense 30,000 acre San Rafael ranch. In 1870 E. M. Ross and C. E. Thom purchased a large tract of land from this immense San Rafael estate and by dint of their tremendous labors the first white settlers were induced to come and settle here. By 1886 there were about 185 inhabitants in the city. At this time Glendale acquired a postoffice and the recognized name of Glendale. A narrow gauge railway was built to Los Angeles, and the people were very happy because of the convenience of travel.

Probably every one coming to Glendale even before the passing of the eighteenth amendment was impressed by the absence of saloons. This is accounted for, not because no saloon was ever tried in Glendale, but because the first bartender was found dead behind his bar one morning shortly after the opening of his establishment in 1888, and the second saloon keeper very narrowly escaped death when his building burned to the ground. Since that time no attempt has been made to open a saloon in Glendale.

Today, after three years of unparalleled growth, we find that Glendale is not behind in modern conveniences at all, and, despite the stress of keeping up with our rise in population, the city does not lack anything that is needed.

Glendale's public school system ranks with the best anywhere in the United States. A new high school has just been completed at a cost close to $1,000,000. There are two intermediate schools, enrolling the seventh and eighth grades, and we have ten elementary schools enrolling the grades from the kindergarten to the sixth. We have over 245 teachers, superintendents and supervisors, instructing more than 7,000 pupils. These schools are all very up to date, and the teaching force is a wide-awake, progressive one. To future residents this fact should appeal with vital force, as they may settle anywhere in Glendale and be assured that adequate school facilities will be at hand for children of all ages.

Glendale does not lag in civic activities. We have a live, up-to-the-minute chamber of commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, Tuesday Afternoon club, Business and Professional Women's club, Thursday club, Glendale Music club—all firm Glendae boosters and all organized under splendid leadership and doing a fine, wide variety of useful work.

Glendale, being a modern city in every respect, does not lack a good supply of churches. There are fifteen churches of many different denominations in Glendale. These churches have an attendance of close to 8,000 persons, which is a very high percentage for any town (18 per cent). There are many of these buildings just completed or under way, and all the churches are expanding on a scale consistent with the city's growth.

We have many fine buildings in Glendale. The Security Trust and Savings Bank building, which was formally opened on the 14th of June, really marks a new step in construction in Glendale. A fourteen-story, own-your-own-apartment building is under contemplation, while many of the business houses of the city are making plans for new and larger quarters. The Security Bank building has been made possible just because Glendale's financial progress has been the same as progress in all other lines. A few years ago one bank was sufficient for Glendale, but today we have nine banking institutions with total deposits of over $13,000,000. Three of these banks are branches of Los Angeles banks, while six of them are absolutely independent institutions.

The average visitor thinks Glendale has no manufacturing because he can see no smoke or smokestacks. As a matter of fact, Glendale has seventy manufacturing concerns, employing close to 1,500 workers, paying an average daily wage of over $5, producing around $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 worth of goods annually, and with assets totaling close to $6,000,000.* The absence of the smokestacks is explained by the fact that all of the manufacturers use hydro-electric power, or electricity. Included in the manufactured products of the city are a wide variety of useful commodities, a great many of them manufactured no place else on the entire Pacific coast.

Today Glendale is progressing rapidly under the city manager form of government. A board of directors select a manager who is given full power to conduct the business of the city. This method has been adopted by all the modern cities of the United States as being the most feasible and practical way to run the city. We have an efficient police department and a splendid fire department.

And thus, summing it all up, it really seems as though we were living in a wonderland almost too real and true. We have broad, paved, well lighted streets lined with well organized mercantile establishments, banks, theatres, hotels, restaurants, etc. We have the cheapest water and electricity rate of any city in Southern California. We have an almost perfect climate, with an average summer temperature of 68 degrees and an average winter temperature of 60 degrees. These climatic

OUTDOOR EXERCISE

I'm sure it seems superfluous to most of my readers to advise fresh air and exercise as a means to real beauty. Everyone must know the value of fresh air, sunshine and physical culture! Everyone does, but everyone doesn't practice it.

Our girls' colleges are doing a great work through putting in sun parlors, outdoor swimming pools and roof gardens with cots where the less robust girls can lie for a few hours daily in the sun and air and sleep or rest. Some colleges, on the advice of the college doctors or the gymnasium teachers, compel many of the girls to take this simple means to better health. And it is a splendid idea.

Sleeping porches are growing more and more common. Thanks to the propaganda among newspapers and magazines, and the suggestions of the architects employed by these publications, outdoor bedrooms are being included in the plans of almost every suburban and country house. It's another little bit toward building up the health of the nation. I wish the various city governments would compel the building of a small sleeping porch on every single dwelling included in the local housing schemes. Why shouldn't workmen's cottages be as healthy as the homes of well-to-do suburban dwellers? There is a difference between sleeping in the air like this, and in a room with a window, or even two windows, partly open. Try it and you'll see.

Whether or not you sleep outdoors, you can exercise outdoors more than you do, if you plan your days and your work properly. Many jobs done in the kitchen can be done on the porch, office workers can walk rather than ride to work—think out ways of getting out-of-doors.

I. M.—Cocoa butter is all right to use for massaging any part of the body, but it should not be used on the face or around the upper part of the throat, as it may cause hair to grow. Take from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of olive oil with each meal to help you gain in weight. Drink plenty of milk, a pint of which should be taken hot just before retiring, and add cream to it to enrich it, if that is possible.

Crown Roast of Lamb: For the sake of inexperienced Housekeeper Readers I will explain that this roast consists of two strips of chops fastened together at the sides. Have your butcher put it together and trim the bones as for French chops. To took, dust the meat with salt and pepper and place it in a hot oven for 20 minutes, (covering the tips of the chops with slices of bacon to prevent them from charring) then reduce the oven heat to medium, add three cups of hot water to the pan, and continue to roast, allowing ten minutes to the pound and basting frequently. Serve with cooked peas in the hollow center.

Glace Carrots: Boil enough carrots to supply the table and when tender drain, pare, and cut in quarters. Place these in a baking dish, dust thickly with granulated sugar and dot with bits of butter. Add a pinch of mace, pour a little water into the pan-bottom and bake 30 minutes in a hot oven, or till coated with the sugar sirup. Serve hot.

"Angel Food Dessert: Beat the whites of four eggs till stiff, then fold into them one cup of granulated sugar, one cup of chopped, stoned dates, one cup of chopped English walnut meats, three tablespoons of flour sifted with one teaspoon of baking powder and a pinch of salt, and one teaspoon of vanilla. Turn the mixture into shallow muffin pans and bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve with sweetened whipped double cream. (Contributed by E. O'B.)

"Prune Cake: Cream together one cup of granulated sugar and two-thirds of a cup of butter or butter-substitute. Add two well-beaten eggs, one cup of cooked, stoned and chopped prunes, one small teaspoon of baking soda dissolved in four tablespoons of either hot water or sour milk, and one and one-half cups of ordinary bread flour sifted with one teaspoon each of ground cloves, nutmeg and cinnamon. Bake in a loaf cake pan in a moderate oven for 45 or 50 minutes. This cake is better when kept a few days. It is inexpensive and so good." (Contributed by Mrs. A. P.)

Grape Punch: Boil one cup of sugar and two quarts of water together for ten minutes, then cool and add to it one pint of bottled grape juice, the juice of two oranges, the juice of two lemons, one cupful of cut orange pulp, and two thinly sliced bananas. Serve with cracked ice.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SNAPPER BUG

The Bob Cat with his silly little tail crept slyly into the den of the Fuzzy Fox.

"Meouw! Mew!" cried the Bob Cat.

"Hello! What's the matter with you?" asked the Fox. Have you the toothache?"

"No, I haven't," answered the Bob Cat. "But I know some one who will soon have the earache."

"Whom do you mean?" barked the Fox, for he was like a dog, you know, and had a sort of bark.

"I mean Uncle Wiggily," went on the Bob Cat. "That rabbit will soon have the earache, for you and I will soon be nibbling his ears.

"Don't be silly!" laughed the Fox. "I know you have a silly little tail, but you needn't be silly just because of that! Haven't I tried again and again to catch Uncle Wiggily? Hasn't the Wolf tried? Haven't you tried?" And never have we been able to nibble his ears!"

"But we'll do it this time!" mewed the Bob Cat. "Listen! I came to tell you of a good trick to play on that rabbit. This time we shall surely catch him!"

"How?" asked the Fox sort of indifferent like.

"In Uncle Wiggily's kitchen is a box in which Nurse Jane keeps coal," said the Bob Cat. "The box is empty now, for she burns wood in the stove, because this is summer."

"Well, what of that?" asked the Fox. "Do you think you can shut up Uncle Wiggily up in his own empty coal box?"

"No," answered the Bob Cat. "But I will watch my chance. Tomorrow, when Nurse Jane goes out of her kitchen, I will slip in, and hide inside the coal box. They will never know I am there. I will stay in until Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane are asleep in the middle of the night. Then I will creep out of the box. I will open the back door from the inside and let you in. You'll be waiting in the bushes. Once you are in, you and I will catch Uncle Wiggily and carry him off to the woods and we'll nibble his ears! Oh, ho, we'll nibble his ears!"

"That seems a good trick," spoke the Fox. "Go ahead—get in the box."

So the next day the Bob Cat, watching his chance, slipped into the kitchen while Nurse Jane was out, and hid himself in the empty coal box to wait for night to come.

That same day Uncle Wiggily went out to hop in the woods to look for an adventure. The rabbit gentleman had not gone very far before, all of a sudden, something fell on top of his tall silk hat with a plinkity plunkity sound.

"Oh, I hope that wasn't a drop of rain!" cried the rabbit. "I have no umbrella and this is a new hat."

"No, I'm not rain!" cried a jolly little voice, coming from the top of the bunny gentleman's hat.

"Who are you?" asked the rabbit.

"I am the Snapping Bug," was the answer. "I just snapped myself down off a tree branch. Now I'll snap down where you can see me."

There was a little snipping, snapping sound, and a big black bug bounced off Uncle Wiggily's hat to the ground.

"You don't happen to have a piece of apple pie in your pocket, do you, Uncle Wiggily?" asked the Bug, as he snapped his back and bounced around. His back was in two parts, like the hinge of a door, and whenever he bent himself he snapped and flipped up in the air, coming down in a different place each time.

"No, I have no apple pie," said Uncle Wiggily.

"I'm so sorry, for I am very hungry," said the Snapper Bug.

"Then come with me to my hollow stump bungalow, and Nurse Jane will give you a piece of apple pie," invited the bunny. Then, very kindly, he picked up the big black Snapper Bug, put him in a pocket and took him to the bungalow.

It was dark when Uncle Wiggily reached home, and the Bob Cat, hiding in the coal box, was waiting for bedtime, when he would let in the Fox.

"I've brought company home, Nurse Jane," said Uncle Wiggily, taking the Snapper Bug from his pocket and placing the insect on the table. And, no sooner was he there than the big black bug began to snap. "Pop!" he went from the table over to the top of the coal box. And then, looking through a crack in the box the Snapper Bug saw the Bob Cat hiding there.

Out he jumped.

"Oh, get out of here, you bad chap!" cried the Bug. "Here's the Bob Cat in your coal box, Uncle Wiggily! He is hiding there to catch you, I guess! Get out, you bad chap! The Bug snapped himself up and down.

The Bob Cat was so ashamed of having been caught that he raised the lid of the coal box and out he jumped. The Snapper Bug snapped his back, bounced up and came down, banging the Bob Cat on his nose.

"Ouchie! Wowchie!" howled the Bob Cat as he ran out. "Come on! Run!" he called to the Fox, who was hiding in the bushes. "The trick didn't work! The Snapper Bug spoiled it!"

Then Nurse Jane gave the Snapper Bug two pieces of apple pie and he ate even the crumbs and was very happy. So if the cocoanut cake doesn't go roller skating with the lemon pie and forget to come back in time for dinner, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the price of cheese.

VOLUNTARY 'CONVICT'

In order to qualify as a member of the board of trustees of the Eastern State penitentiary in Pennsylvania, W. Curtis Bok, son of Edward W. Bok, arranged to spent two weeks as a "convict" and live as a prisoner in a cell in the institution. His idea was to obtain first hand information and be better qualified to sit as a trustee. Other convicts did not know who he was.

Houses insulated with balsam wool, a product produced from wood fibers, are said to be heated with a saving of more than 30 per cent in fuel.

THE CASE OF JENNIE BRICE

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Copyright, 1924, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The story thus far:

Mrs. Pitman, who tells the story, ran away from home to marry, and was never reconciled to her old Pittsburgh family, although she returned to her home town to live after she became a widow. She kept boarders in what was then lower Allegheny, where, because there were floods every year, rents were cheap. One March there was an unusually high flood. Miss Jennie Brice, as she was known on the stage, was having an unusually quarrelsome time with her husband, Mr. Ladley. Mrs. Pitman overheard them talking with a man, and Miss Brice said, "That's all very well, but what about that prying she-devil that runs the house?" That night the water rose high, and in the middle of the night another boarder, Mr. Reynolds, woke Mrs. Pitman to say somebody had just rowed away in the boat she had tied to the stairs in the lower hall. Mrs. Pitman later saw Mr. Ladley returning. Peter, the dog, finds a slipper of Mrs. Ladley's floating in the parlor, and later a big knife of Mrs. Pitman's, with the blade broken. Mr. Ladley offers to pay Mrs. Pitman for a pillow slip he says was burned with a cigarette, and sayys his wife went away in the night. Holcombe, an amateur detective, discovers that an onyx clock from the mantelpiece in Ladley's room is missing. They also find a blood-stained towel. Mr. Howell, a young newspaper man, comes to help Holcombe. Mrs. Pitman finds a slip of paper on which is written, "Rope, knife, shoe, towel. Horn—" Lida Harvey, Mrs. Pitman's niece, who has never seen her, comes to the house with Howell. Lida sends for Mrs. Pitman and asks her about Jennie Brice and Howell.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XIX—OLD "IKKIE"

She colored a little when I told her I thought Howell was in love with her, and smiled at that, but the next moment she was sitting forward, tense and questioning again.

"If that is true, Mrs. Pitman," she said, "who was the veiled woman he met that Monday morning at daylight and took across the bridge to Pittsburgh? I believe it was Jennie Brice. If it was not, who was it?"

"I don't believe he took any woman across the bridge at that hour. Who says he did?"

"Uncle Jim saw him. He had been playing cards all night at one of the clubs, and was walking home. He says he met Mr. Howell face to face, and spoke to him. The woman was tall and veiled. Uncle Jim sent for him, a day or two later, and he refused to explain. Then they forbade him the house. Mama objected to him, anyhow, and he only came on suffrance. He is a college man of good family, but without any money at all save what he earns. And now—"

I had had some young newspaper men with me, and I knew what they got. They were nice boys, but they made fifteen doldars a week. I'm afraid I smiled a little as I looked around the room, with its gray grass-cloth walls, its toilet table spread with ivory and gold, and the maid in attendance in her black dress and white apron, collar and cuffs. Even the little nightgown Lida was wearing would have taken a week's salary or more. She saw my smile.

"It was to be his chance," she said. "If he made good, he was to have something better. My Uncle Jim owns the paper, and he promised me to help him. But—"

So Jim was running a newspaper! That was a curious career for Jim to choose. Jim, who was twice expelled from school, and who could never write a letter without a dictionary beside him! I had a pang when I heard his name again, after all the years. For I had written to Jim from Oklahoma, after Mr. Pitman died, asking for money to bury him and had never even had a reply.

"And you haven't seen him since?"

Once. I—didn't hear from him, and I called him up. We—we met in the park. He said everything was all right, but he couldn't tell me just then. The next day he resigned from the paper and went away. Mrs. Pitman, it's driving me crazy! For they have found a body, and they think it is hers. If it is, and he was with her—"

"Don't be a foolish girl," I protested. "If he was with Jennie Brice, she is still living, and if he was not with Jennie Brice—"

"If it was not Jennie Brice, then I have a right to know who it was," she declared. "He was not like himself when I met him. He said such queer things; he talked about an onyx clock, and said he had been made a fool of, and that no matter what came out, I was always to remember that he had done what he did for the best, and that—that he cared for me more than for anything in this world or the next."

"That wasn't so foolish!" I couldn't help it; I leaned over and drew her nightgown up over her bare white shoulder. "You won't help anything or anybody by taking cold, my dear," I said. "Call your maid and have her put a dressing-gown around you."

I left soon after. There was little I could do. But I comforted her as best I could, and said good night. My heart was heavy as I went down the stairs. For, twist things as I might, it was clear that in some way the Howell boy was mixed up in the Brice case. Poor little troubled Lida! Poor distracted boy!

I had a curious experience downstairs. I had reached the foot of the staircase and was turning to go back and along the hall to the side entrance, when I came face to face with Isaac, the old colored man who had driven the family carriage when I was a child, and whom I had seen, at intervals since I came back, pottering around Alma's house. The old man was bent and feeble; he came slowly down the hall, with a bunch of keys in his hand. I had seen him do the same thing many times.

He stopped when he saw me, and I shrank back from the light, but he had seen me. "Miss Bess!" he said. "Foh Gawd's sake, Miss Bess!"

"You are making a mistake, my friend," I said, quivering. "I am not 'Miss Bess'!"

He came close to me and stared into my face. And from that he looked at my cloth gloves, at my coat, and he shook his white head. "I sure thought you was Miss Bess," he said, and made no further effort to detain me. He led the way back to the door where the machine waited, his head shaking with the palsy of age, muttering as he went. He opened the door with his best manner, and stood aside.

"Good night, ma'am," he quavered.

I had tears in my eyes. I tried to keep them back. "Good night," I said. "Good night, Ikkie."

It had slipped out, my baby name for old Isaac!

"Miss Bess!" he cried. "Oh, praise Gawd, it's Miss Bess again!"

He caught my arm and pulled me back into the hall, and there he held me, crying over me, muttering praise for my return, begging me to come back, recalling little tender things out of the past that almost killed me to hear again.

But I had made my bed and must lie in it. I forced him to swear silence about my visit; I made him promise not to reveal my identity to Lida; and I told him—heaven forgive me—that I was well and prosperous and happy.

Dear old Isaac! I would not let him come to see me, but the next day there came a basket, with six bottles of wine, and an old daguerreotype of my mother, that had been his treasure. Nor was that basket the last.

Gloria Swanson's "A Society Scandal," now showing at the United Theatre, Eagle Rock, is one of the really clever pictures of the season. An Alan Dwan production, it serves as an almost ideal vehicle for this temperamental star.

Spice is the word that best characterizes "A Society Scandal." Anyone who likes a picture with thrill after thrill of the subtle, more suggestive type, will thoroughly enjoy the picture.

Showing also at the United Theatre is "Private, Keep Out," the newest Carter DeHaven comedy. The program is rounded out with an International news reel.

advantages allow outdoor work or play practically the whole year around. We have easy and quick access to the ocean, to the mountains and to Los Angeles by electric line or by motor over well-paved boulevards. We have low taxation; we are living in one of the most healthful climates in the world, and at an elevation of 600 feet; and, in addition to this, we all have the distinction of living in THE FASTEST GROWING CITY IN AMERICA.

This, then, is a short history of the facts concerning Glendale—the habitation of over 40,000 home-loving, loyal Americans. From Vermont and Texas, Tennessee and Wyoming come daily new citizens. We bid them welcome and soon they join the mighty chorus of praise for this new-found Utopia—a happy, prosperous people facing the future with great expectations—Glendale, the beautiful.

*These figures are based on a careful and conservative estimate, made as a result of the questioning of about one-third of the representative manufacturing plants in the city. While it is impossible to guarantee the above statements to be absolutely true in all respects, I firmly believe these figures are very close to the actual facts.

NOTICE OF HEARING ON APPEAL FROM ACTS AND DETERMINATIONS OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF STREETS IN RELATION TO THE IMPROVEMENT OF GLENDALE AVENUE AND ON OBJECTIONS TO THE CORRECTNESS AND LEGALITY OF THE ASSESSMENT AND OTHER ACTS OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF STREETS, AND THE MANNER THE WORK WAS PERFORMED.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the City of Glendale, California, did on the 12th day of June, 1924 at a regular meeting thereof, fix and determine that Thursday, the 19th day of June, 1924, at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M., at the Council Chamber of said Council in the City Hall, 619 East Broadway, as the time and place for hearing the appeals and objections filed by Frank L. Dodge, F. L. Weisenheimer, Bernard Gilbert, Mabel L. Tight and others with reference to the assessment and warrant issued to Peter L. Ferry on the 9th day of May, 1924, to cover the costs and expenses of improving portions of Glendale Avenue and Wilson Avenue, as described in Resolution of Intention No. 1959 of the Council of said City of Glendale.

The said appeals are from the acts and determinations of the Superintendent of Streets of said City, and object to and complain of: the manner of construction of the pavement laid; the quality of the materials used in said pavement; the assessment of certain property which, it is alleged, was illegally assessed; the alleged inequality of the assessment; the manner of making the assessment; that the work was not performed in acordance with the plans and specifications therefor; that the costs of said work were not uniformly or fairly distributed by said assessment; and that said work was not performed in a good and substantial manner.

Reference is hereby made to said Resolution of Intention on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale for a further description of the work contracted to be done. Reference is hereby made to the said appeals which are on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of Glendale for further details as to the acts, determinations and proceedings objected to and complained of.

This notice is given pursuant to the direction of the Council of the City of Glendale, California.

A. J. VAN WIE,
City Clerk of the City of Glendale.

ORDINANCE No. 957

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING BOXING CONTESTS AND SPARRING EXHIBITIONS.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

SECTION 1. A professional boxing contest or sparring exhibition, within the meaning of this Ordinance, is one in which the principals, or the persons engaging therein, contend for a reward or for a wager in money, or for anything of value, other than a medal or a trophy, or who contend for a portion of the admission fees or gate receipts.

An amateur boxing contest or sparring exhibition, within the meaning of this Ordinance, is one in which the principals, or persons engaging therein, do not contend for a reward or for a wager in money or for any other thing of value, except a medal or a trophy not to exceed Thirty-five Dollars ($35.00) in value, lawful money of the United States, which medal or trophy shall have permanently engraved thereon the name of the winner and the date of the event.

SECTION 2. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, association or club to give, hold or conduct, or for any person to manage or engage in, or to instigate or aid, or to be present as a spectator at, or to do any act to further any professional boxing contest or sparring exhibition, either public or private, to be conducted with or without gloves, in the City of Glendale.

SECTION 3. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, association or club to give, hold or conduct, or for any person to manage or engage in, or to instigate or aid, or to be present as a spectator at, or to do any act to further any boxing contest or sparring exhibition, either public or private, except an amateur boxing contest or sparring exhibition carried on with gloves weighing not less than seven (7) ounces, each, the backs of which, covering the fingers and hands, are entirely and evenly padded with hair or other soft material, the number of rounds of which shall not exceed four (4) in number, each round of which shall not exceed three (3) minutes in length, and the interval between any two (2) successive rounds of which shall not be less than one (1) minute. The sole purpose of each such amateur boxing contest or sparring exhibition shall be the demonstration of the athletic skill of the participants therein, and for engaging in which no money, compensation, reward, prize or thing of value shall be offered, paid, given to, or received by any person except a medal or a trophy not exceeding Thirty-five Dollars ($35.00) in value.

SECTION 4. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, corporation, association or club to give, hold or conduct any amateur boxing contest or sparring exhibition without first having obtained from the City of Glendale a permit so to do. Every applicant for any such permit shall file with the City Clerk of the City of Glendale a written application which shall contain the following information:

1. The name and address of the applicant;

2. The names and addresses of at least five (5) citizens of the State of California, at least two (2) of whom shall be residents of the City of Glendale, who have known the applicant for a period of at least three (3) years prior to the date of the application;

3. The location at which it is proposed to hold such amateur boxing contest or contests, or sparring exhibition or exhibitions;

4. An enumeration of the safety precautions which have been or will be provided in the structure in which it is proposed to hold such contests;

5. The number of contests proposed to be held per annum;

6. The name of the person to be in actual charge of such contests;

NOTICE OF ELECTION ORDINANCE No. 958

AN ORDINANCE ORDERING THE HOLDING OF A SPECIAL MUNICIPAL ELECTION TO BE HELD IN THE CITY OF GLENDALE ON THE 8TH DAY OF JULY, 1924, AND SUBMITTING TO THE QUALIFIED VOTERS OF SAID CITY A PROPOSITION OF INCURRING INDEBTEDNESS AND ISSUING BONDS THEREFOR.

WHEREAS, the Council of the City of Glendale, at its regular meeting held on the 5th day of June, 1924, by a vote of two-thirds of all its members, duly passed and adopted a Resolution No. 2426 determining that the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition, construction and completion by said City of Glendale of that certain municipal improvement hereinafter in this Ordinance described, and that the estimated cost of said municipal improvement will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said City, and that the expenditure of the cost of said improvement cannot be provided for out of the ordinary revenue of said City, and that the public interest demands the expenditure for municipal purposes of a certain sum of money for the purpose of acquiring said improvement, as more particularly appears from said Resolution on file in the office of the City Clerk, which is hereby referred to for all particulars;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE:

SECTION 1. That a special municipal election be held, and the same is hereby called and ordered to be held, in the City of Glendale, on the 8th day of July, 1924, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of said City a proposition of incurring an indebtedness and issuing bonds of said City therefor in the amount hereinafter stated, and for the purposes set forth in said Resolution and hereinafter stated.

SECTION 2. The objects and purposes for which said indebtedness is to be incurred and bonds issued therefor are as follows:

The acquisition, construction and completion of the following municipal improvement, to-wit:

The extension of the public library system of the City of Glendale as follows, to-wit: The acquisition, construction and completion of public library buildings, fixtures and equipment therefor, consisting of the acquisition, construction and completion of an addition to the main library building and the necessary fixtures and equipment therefor; the acquisition, construction and completion of a branch library building in said City, and the necessary fixtures and equipment therefor.

That the estimated cost of said improvement is the sum of Forty-seven Thousand Dollars ($47,000.00); that the amount of the principal of the indebtedness to be incurred for said improvement is the sum of Forty-seven Thousand Dollars ($47,000.00), and the maximum rate of interest to be paid on said principal shall be six (6) per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, which rate shall not be exceeded in the issuance of bonds for such indebtedness.

That if said proposition for incurring indebtedness so submitted at said election receives two-thirds of the votes of the qualified voters voting at said election, bonds of said City in the principal amount of not exceeding Forty-seven Thousand Dollars ($47,000.00) shall be issued and sold for the purpose of acquiring, constructing and completing said municipal improvement. Both principal and interest of said bonds shall be payable in gold coin of the United States, of the present standard of weight and fineness.

SECTION 3. The polls of said election shall be opened at 6 o'clock of the morning of the day of election and kept open until 7 o'clock of the evening of the same day, when the polls shall be closed; provided, however, that if, at the said hour for closing the polls, there are any voters in the polling place or in line at the door thereof, who are qualified to vote and have not been able to do so since appearing, the polls shall be kept open a sufficient time to enable them to vote. No one who shall arrive at the polling place after 7 o'clock in the afternoon shall be entitled to vote, although the polling place may be open when he arrives.

SECTION 4. That on the ballots to be used at said special municipal election, in addition to the other matters required by law, there shall be printed the following:

Shall the City of Glendale incur a bonded debt of Forty-seven Thousand Dollars ($47,000.00) for the purpose of acquiring, constructing and completing the following municipal improvement, to-wit:

The extension of the public library system of the City of Glendale as follows, to-wit: The acquisition, construction and completion of public library buildings, fixtures and equipment therefor, consisting of the acquisition, construction and completion of an addition to the main library building and the necessary fixtures and equipment therefor; the acquisition, construction and completion of a branch library building in said City, and the necessary fixtures and equipment therefor?

Yes
No

SECTION 5. If an elector shall stamp a cross (X) in the voting square after the printed word "Yes," after said question or proposition, his vote shall be counted in favor of the adoption of such question or proposition. If he shall stamp a cross (X) in the voting square after the printed word "No," after said question or proposition, his vote shall be counted against the adoption of the same.

SECTION 6. In all particulars not recited in this Ordinance, said election shall be held as provided by law for the holding of municipal elections in said City. That for the purpose of holding said special municipal election hereby ordered, the following voting precincts, to be known as "Special Municipal Election Precincts Nos. 1 to 8, inclusive," are hereby established in said City of Glendale by adopting and consolidating certain of the voting precincts heretofore established by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles by an order adopted December 10, 1923, and revised by an order of said Board of Supervisors adopted May 26, 1924, for the holding of general elections in said City, in the manner hereinafter stated, and by establishing other precincts with boundaries hereinafter stated. Said work shall be done in accordance with the plan and detailed drawing therefor shown on said Plan No. 843 and in accordance with Specifications No. 67 and No. 31.

Third: That a portion of that portion of Hill Drive lying southerly of Sierra Avenue from a line twenty (20) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line and its extensions of Sierra Avenue to the southwesterly line and its extensions of Sierra Avenue; that a portion of that portion of Hill Drive lying northerly of Sierra Avenue from the northeasterly line and its extensions of Sierra Avenue to a line twenty (20) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line and its extensions of Sierra Avenue, all as more particularly set forth on Plan No. 843, shall be improved as follows, to-wit:

That said portions of street be graded and paved with a 5-inch oil macadam pavement, all except as otherwise shown on said Plan No. 843. Said work shall be done in accordance with the plan and detailed drawings therefor shown on said Plan No. 843 and in accordance with Specifications No. 67.

Fourth: That a portion of that portion of Hill Drive lying northerly of Sierra Avenue from Sierra Avenue to a line drawn at right angles to the westerly line of Hill Drive at a point therein ninety-four and eighty-three hundredths (94.83) feet northerly, measured along said westerly line, from the southeasterly corner of Lot 20, Tract No. 5889, as per map recorded in Book 63, page 78, of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California; that a portion of that portion of Hill Drive lying southerly of Sierra Avenue from Sierra Avenue to a line ten (10) feet southwesterly from and parallel to the northeasterly line and its northwesterly extension of that portion of Orchard Avenue lying southeasterly of Hill Drive, all as more particularly set forth on Plan No. 843, shall be improved as follows, to-wit:

That said portions of street be graded and have constructed thereon cement sidewalks, all except as otherwise shown on said Plan No. 843. Said work shall be done in accordance with the plan and detailed drawings therefor shown on said Plan No. 843 and in accordance with Specifications No. 31.

Fifth: That a portion of Glenoaks Boulevard from the westerly line and its exensions of Waltonia Drive to the westerly line and its extensions of Scholl Drive, all as more particularly set forth on Plan No. 843, shall be improved as follows, to-wit:

That said portion of street be graded, paved with a 5-inch oil macadam pavement and have constructed thereon cement concrete gutters and wooden headers, all except as otherwise shown on said Plan No. 843. Said work shall be done in accordance with the plan, cross-section and detailed drawings therefor shown on said Plan No. 843 and in accordance with Specifications No. 67 and No. 31.

Sixth: That a 4-inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid across a portion of Glenoaks Boulevard at the termination of Elvina Drive in Glenoaks Boulevard from the northerly line and its extensions of Glenoaks Boulevard to a line forty-six (46) feet southerly from and parallel to the northerly line and its extensions of Glenoaks Boulevard; that a 6-inch Class "B" cast iron water pipe be laid across Sierra Avenue and along a line ten (10) feet westerly from and parallel to the westerly line and its extensions of Waltonia Drive from the northerly line of Sierra Avenue to the southerly line of Sierra Avenue; across a portion of Sierra Avenue between a point in the southwesterly line of Sierra Avenue where said southwesterly line is intersected by a line drawn five (5) feet easterly from and parallel to the westerly line of Lot 1, Smalley's Acres, as per map recorded in Book 48, pages 37 and 38, of Maps, Records of Los Angeles County, California, and a line twenty-four (24) feet northeasterly from and parallel to the southwesterly line of Sierra Avenue; together with fire hydrants, connections, tees, valves, crosses, ells and appurtenances, all as shown on Plan No. 843. Said pipe and appurtenances shall be laid in accordance with the plan and detailed drawings therefor shown on Plans No. 843, No. 439, No. 448, and in accordance with Specifications No. 42.

Seventh: That the grade to which the aforedescribed work shall be done and the improvements made which are provided for as heretofore stated, is that shown on Profiles No. 644, No. 651 and No. 233 therefor, on file in the office of the City Engineer, to which said profiles reference is hereby made for a description of said grade.

Eighth: That all the foregoing work on Sierra Avenue, Glenoaks Boulevard, Hill Drive, Merrill Avenue and Sycamore Canon Road is fully set forth, delineated and described on Plans No. 843, No. 439 and No. 448 therefor, and on Profiles No. 644, No. 651 and No. 233, on file in the office of the City Engineer, and in Specifications No. 67 and No. 31, on file in the office of the City Clerk, all duly adopted by the Council of the City of Glendale. Said plans, profiles and specifications are hereby referred to for a full and detailed description of said proposed work and improvement and shall govern in any and all respects in which said plans, profiles and/or specifications differ from this Resolution of Intention.

SECTION 2. That in the opinion of the Council of the City of Glendale, said contemplated work and improvement is of more than local or ordinary public benefit, and said Council hereby declares that the district within said City benefited by said work and improvement and to be assessed to pay the costs and expenses thereof, is all that portion of said City within the following described exterior boundary lines, to-wit:

CHICAGO WHEAT

By International News Service

CHICAGO, June 16.—Grains continued their active and strong tone today on continued reports of unfavorable weather in the southwest and the close was at higher levels.

Oats had a narrow trade and the market was nervous.

Provisions were firmer in sympathy with grain.

COMMODITY NOTES

By Special Correspondents of The Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

FRUIT

MONETT, Mo., June 16.—The returns from the strawberry auction sales here this season up to June 8 amounted to $1,132,000. The sales have yielded from $30,000 to $120,000 a day. They have been conducted by co-operative fruit growers' associations.

WINCHESTER, Va., June 13.—Boyd C. Richards, apple grower and exporter, just home from abroad, stated today that all foreign markets shortly will accept only officially inspected and passed fruit from America.

OIL

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Eighteen of the thirty-four new wells started lasst week were located in the Torrence field. Return of activity to the Kern county field is indicated by inauguration of work on six new wells. The total new operation since January 1, is 707, compared with 702 a year ago.

WHEAT

ST. PAUL, June 16.—Reduction in the estimates of the Minnesota wheat crop which makes it the lowest crop since 1872 is attributed to reduction of acreage as the condition of the wheat is satisfactory. The estimate is for 16,000,609 bushels, or less than half the five-year average.

WOOL

PORTLAND, June 16.—It is estimated here that about six million pounds of the Oregon wool clip has been sold. The total clip is estimated at from 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds. Locally prices seem to be ebbing, with 30½ cents bid for fine wool.

VEGETABLES

BOSTON, June 16.—The oversupply of lettuce this season has brought prices so low that growers may abandon their fields. Prices quoted are 25 cents a box of eighteen heads. Some farmers are feeding lettuce to farm animals.

SEATTLE, June 16.—Shipments of lettuce from Puget Sound valleys will be only about half as large as earlier anticipated. The movement is expected to total from 700 to 800 carloads, which will be distributed as far east as Minneapolis, Chicago and Cincinnati.

AUTOMOBILES

CHICAGO, June 16.—Automobile dealers here report new car sales on a par with a year ago at this time and sales gradually increasing with warm weather. The used car situation, however, is reported as dragging.

STEEL AND IRON

READING, Pa., June 16.—The Reading Hardware company has laid off some workers in the last fortnight owing to decrease in demand for builders' hardware. Business is improving, however, at other iron plants.

COAL

PITTSBURGH, June 16.—Slack prices are easier in the coal market here, with steam grade down to $1.20 a ton and gas slack at $1.30. Mine run prices are generally unchanged. Hand-to-month buying continues with little prospect for early improvement.

PRICES DECLINE

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The general level of wholesale prices declined nearly six per cent in May, 1924, as compared with May, 1923, the department of labor announced today. In all groups prices averaged lower, ranging from a little over 2 per cent on farm products to nearly 11 per cent in building materials and 12 per cent in metals and metal products.

In the food group, increases in fresh meats, flour and certain fruits offset the decrease reported for other articles, leaving no change in general political level.

CLEVELAND MEET SETS PRECEDENT IN NOMINATIONS

Two Successive Ballots Give Separate Candidates for Second Place

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

CLEVELAND, June 16. — An unusual gathering in many respects, this Republican national convention of 1924 has gone down in history as the first one ever to nominate two separate and distinct candidates for the vice presidency on two successive ballots.

The convention went on the theory that if at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

When they were nominating Mr. Lowden at the afternoon session, the band had been playing "Your lips say no, no; but there's yes, yes in your eyes." But the former governor of Illinois wouldn't have it that way. It proved that when he said no, he meant it. The convention was warned in advance of that fact, but some one told the delegates that Theodore Roosevelt back in 1900 had said "no, no," and then consented, so every one was convinced Frank O. Lowden would do the same thing. It was a stunning blow when he said he would not.

Then the band played, "What'll I do; what'll I do?" and the delegates shook their heads. They didn't know. A convenient recess gave them a chance to orient themselves and the nomination of General Dawes followed in record time.

Take No Chances

There have been a number of occasions when it has been necessary to replace vice presidential candidates in the past, but this always has been done by a national committee or by an otherwise authorized group of party leaders.

Former Governor Lowden was the first vice presidential nominee to "bust" right in the face of a convention. Even when Charlie Dawes had been nominated on the third ballot, the convention decided to take no more chances with withdrawals. It passed a resolution authorizing the national committee to fill any vacancy which might occur on the ticket or to call a new national convention to fill such a vacancy. A number of delegates ventured the opinion from the first that "hell and Maria" would not decline, but the convention as a whole decided to take no more chances.

A number of parliamentarians were worried as to just how the convention was going to rescind its action in nominating Governor Lowden on the second ballot. For the time being he was officially the nominee of the party, and something radical had to be done in a conservative convention to get rid of him. Some of the old timers thought it would be necessary to have a motion to reconsider the vote on the second ballot.

Simple Solution

In the end the solution was rather a simple one. It was moved that the declination of Mr. Lowden be accepted. This was done by unanimous vote. Then without further ado the roll of the states was called once more, and what promised at first to be a real fight between Mr. Dawes and Secretary Hoover turned out to be an overwhelming vote for the gentleman banker from Illinois.

Incidentally, Illinois broke all records by having two vice presidential nominees accredited to the state in one day.

All is not going to be clear sailing for the Republicans this fall. This includes Indiana, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois. Perhaps the Republican leaders will change their minds once the campaign actually is under way, but in the meantime the Democrats will be glad to hear the good tidings.

"Frugal" Is Overworked

The inevitable statistician attended the nominating sessions of the convention and, after totaling up the day's proceedings, he found that in the nomination of President Coolidge and in the eight seconding speeches delegated in his behalf, the adjective "frugal" outdistanced all rivals by a wide margin. Mr. Coolidge was lauded from many angles, but all the eulogizers appeared to meet on the common ground of "frugality." Apt alliteration had its artful part in the day's proceedings, too, for it was borne in upon the delegates that Mr. Coolidge was calm, cool, careful, cautious, courageous, courteous and complete.

Governor Lowden paid for his telegram declining the vice presidential nomination. He might easily have sent it collect, for it was an answer.

Something went wrong with the marvelous demonstration planned for Senator Jim Watson of Indiana when he was placed before the convention as a vice presidential aspirant. At the conclusion of the nominating speech the Hoosiers and a few scattering delegates from the other states started an uproar. They did not get an awful lot of support, however, and the demonstration died away unexpectedly. Suddenly, when the roll call was resumed a blatant brass band crashed into the hall. The convention was startled. No one knew just what the invasion meant until the brass equipped musicians, grouped below the speaker's platform, burst forth into the "Banks of the Wabash." Then every one knew it was a belated boost for Senator Jim. There was tolerant consideration of the band for fully five minutes, and then some unregenerate delegate called for the "regular order." The band disappeared and with it into the gathering gloom of night disappeared one of the best booms that has ever come from Indiana.

The patriot who nominated

Leads Women

MISS BELLE SHERWIN of Cleveland may be selected president of the National League of Women Voters, to succeed Mrs. Maud Wood Park.

Miss Belle Sherwin of Cleveland is expected to succeed Mrs. Maud Wood Park as president of the National League of Women Voters. She now is first vice-president of the organization.

Provides Special Car For Women Travelers

CHICAGO, June 16.—Equal rights for women took another step forward today when the Illinois Central railway attached to its St. Louis-Chicago daylight special a lounge and smoking car for women. They may smoke to their heart's content without fear of intrusion from men, railway officials stated. The car will be a regular part of the train in the future.

Blind Man Tries to Kill Wife and Self

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Unable to see, because he is blind, but maddened by visions of his wife in other men's arms, Jose Fernandez, 40, grabbed a hammer here today and beat his wife, Rosa, into insensibility. Then he turned the hammer on himself.

Both were taken to a hospital where they may die, so critical are their injuries, physicians said.

DESERTED, CHARGE

SANTA MONICA, June 16.—Mrs. Thomas Jacosky and two children of Whitemore Lake, Mich., are stranded in the municipal auto camp here, having been lured as far as Kansas City by one Charles P. Stewart, according to the woman's story. There he departed in care of their funds.

Annual production of sugar in Venezuela is about 3,000 tons.

Senator Jim warned his Republican brethren that the wily Democrats surely were going to nominate either a presidential or a vice presidential candidate from Indiana, and might carry the state unless the gates were kept by Senator Watson. Now nobody knows who is going to stop the invasion. Certainly "Hell and Maria," versatile as he is, can't be everywhere.

Burton Makes Hit

Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the University of Michigan, who made the nominating speech for his friend Calvin Coolidge, is a fine sorrel top. He is a magnetic speaker, but the predictions that he might win the vice presidency by his speech were far astray. The educator has an attractive personality, and he made a great hit with both delegates and spectators by casting his prepared address to the winds and going to his task extemporaneously, replacing a rather dry narrative with one rich in anecdote and personal contact with the man he was about to name.

Protesting at all times that he was not a politician and possessed none of the wiles of such, he nevertheless caught the old political trick of not naming his man until the last two words. From the very beginning, however, the delegates and the galleries knew exactly the man he was talking of. Permanent Chairman Mondell saw to that. He announced at the outset that Dr. Burton would be recognized to place in nomination "President Coolidge." From that time on the secret was out. It is awfuly difficult to keep anything dark at a national convention.

The meanest man in Cleveland has been discovered. On his way to the convention Wednesday he ran out of gasoline some ten miles out of the city. A passing automobilist generously consented to share his gas with the stalled person. In return the stalled one gave his rescuer a ticket to the convention. It was a ticket for the fifth day. It was known in advance there would be but three days of the sitting.

Vote for Wrigley

Bill Wrigley of Chicago, the chewing gum king, got one vote for vice president on all three of the ballots taken. Like his tenacious product, Mr. William Wrigley Jr.'s one vote stuck.

On the second vice presidential ballot some lone delegate voted for former Governor Joseph M. Dixon of Montana. This so enthused a spectator in the gallery that he led himself in three rousing cheers. Some cynic suggested the enthusiast must be Governor Dixon himself. But it wasn't.

OSTRICH PLUMES BEDECK LATEST WOMEN'S WEAR

Fashion's Dictates Call for Feather Trimmings on Evening Attire

By AILEEN LAMONT
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, June 16.—The ostrich may have his head in the sand but this season at least he has his wing and tail feathers prominently displayed on scores of articles of feminine adornment. The vogue for ostrich trimming on evening gowns and even on shoes which has run riot in Paris and London, is just gaining full speed here.

Dozens of ostrich trimmed dresses have been on view at the recent functions in honor of June brides. Feathers of every possible hue are being worn wherever they can be advantageously placed. They droop over hat brims and over fair shoulders and hang in delicate fronds from waist lines.

But it is at the skirt hem that they find their fullest expression. Generally they form a solid band of dainty flowing color from the knees to the skirt edge and in many cases the sole decoration of the frock.

Wide Feather Band

They are so used on a recent Paris importation just arrived here made of white fulgurante, with the new wide V neckline and only a suggestion of a low waist line to break the silhouette until a 14-inch band of black ostrich plumes is reached, which float from the knee down.

Another French model made on slim, straight lines, is of aizelle colored crepe de chine and is garnished with a big puff of curled rose colored ostrich at the left hip. From this ornament fronds fo uncurled plumes of the same color widen down the left side of the skirt until they completely encircle the hem.

One of Redfern's late designs is a tea gown of gold lace over coral fulgurante. A double fringe of coral colored plumes extends from the knees all around to within eight inches of the floor and is continued upward to the left hip.

Wraps and Shoes

The feather vogue has even spread to wraps. One of the most attractive examples seen recently is of white georgette linked completely with short ostrich plumes dyed a delicate yellow.

One or two pairs of ostrich shoes have reached this side from London. These are made of the skin of the bird, tanned with the feathers on it. The straps are of the skin with the holes where the larger plumes stick through, enlarged into cut-out designs.

Occasionally small bands formed of bright colored feathers take the place of bracelets around the wrist with feather trimmed evening gowns. The presentation of many Americans at the court of St. James has given impetus to the wearing of white ostrich plumes as head ornaments with formal dress.

FIGURES ON FILMS

HOLLYWOOD, June 16.—What are the chances of getting into the movies? That is the question heard every day on the street and here are the figures:

It has been estimated that more than 130,000 people are registered as wanting to get into films through the ranks of the "extra." Of this number 12,000 are occasionally employed through the year. Of this number 5000 get frequent employment. And only 250 are able to make a living therefrom!

Disillusionment, therefore, awaits 120,000, who must return to their homes in the east, after a sad experience in filmland, according to statisticians.

GROWERS ORGANIZE

VENTURA, June 16.—At a meeting held here Saturday in Seaside park the apricot growers of this county formed a marketing association, established a scale of wages to be paid this season and decided to sell as much green fruit as possible, their efforts at drying and packing not having been so profitable while allied with the Prune and Apricot Growers' association, it is reported.

FAMOUS PRIEST DEAD

SANTA ANA, June 16.—Rev. Father Francis Louis Schaffer, former manager of the Great Western Press of Saskatchewan, Canada, and noted for both his writings and paintings, is dead after having served the local parish for one year. Funeral services are being held today. He was ordained a priest in Budapest, Hungary, in 1904, coming from a noble family. His mother survives him and is his only living relative.

RANCHER DROPS DEAD

ORANGE, June 16.—C. J. Backus, aged 70, a rancher in the Katella district, who resided in Hollywood, died Thursday while irrigating. His son was nearby and saw his father collapse from the heat.

GUARD HEROES' BODIES

SAN PEDRO, June 16.—It was necessary Sunday to throw a military and police guard around the Cleveland Undertaking parlors here where the forty-eight hero dead of the United States navy disaster lay awaiting shipment to their late homes. I. W. W. of the harbor, who had made slurring remarks about the U. S. S. Mississippi and its crew Saturday night, found six of their number tarred and feathered and their meeting place cleaned of all furniture. This infuriated them to new threats and it was feared they might dynamite the morgue.

BOMBARD STORE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, June 16.—R. L. Gilbert, proprietor of a general merchandise store here, reports to the police that mysterious marauders have thrown stones and fired bullets through the window of his store. He has applied for special protection.

WILL BUILD POOL

FULLERTON, June 16.—Despite a radical reduction in the school budget here for the coming year the board of trustees have voted to build a new outdoor swimming pool. It is considered a necessary part of high school athletic equipment.

EL CENTRO, June 16.—Buyers here from Los Angeles and San Francisco are offering as high as $120 a ton for select Imperial Valley table grapes which will be ripe next month it is asserted by ranchers, who are very optimistic over the [illegible] of record-breaking price[illegible] their crop.

BURBANK CREDIT MEN ENTERTAIN CITY MERCHANTS

Spirit of Co-operation Is Fostered Between Two Associations Today

A spirit of closer co-operation was fostered between members of the Glendale Merchants association and the Burbank Merchants association at a joint meeting held today noon at the Santa Rosa hotel in Burbank. D. A. Cross, president of the Burbank association, and C. J. Hatz, president of the Glendale association, shared honors in presiding at the meeting.

The meeting was the sixth gathering of the Burbank merchants since their association was organized recently. President Hatz congratulated the Burbank merchants on the showing they had made in such a short time and promised the assistance of the Glendale organization. He spoke on the valuable work the association could accomplish and stressed the importance of members reporting at each meeting.

E. F. Sanders, secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, in a brief address, declared constructive co-operation must take the place of destructive competition if business will survive. He called attention to the fact that the merchants of Glendale would welcome the members of the American Society of Civil Engineers next Friday at the city limits as they passed through Glendale on their way from Pasadena to Culver City.

Welcomes Glendalians

D. A. Cross welcomed the members of the Glendale association and said the two organizations must function as one, since the two cities are so close. William Reimers is secretary of the Burbank association, which now has twenty-four members.

Among the Glendale business men present at the joint luncheon, which was served in the large dining room of the Santa Rosa hotel, 47 years old, were: E. F. Sanders, T. C. Booth, H. M. McGuire, H. S. Webb, Charles Stuart, W. P. Potter, D. L. Gregg, C. J. Hatz, A. G. Cornwell, A. T. Cowan, Waldo Cowan, Frank Lee, William Trice, G. O. Piercey, R. D. Green, R. W. Sherrod, J. A. Newton, Ole Andresen, R. L. Kent, Frank H. Pilling, Stanley F. Bell W. H. Hooper, H. M. Butts, V. B. White, John T. Allen, Royal M. Sawtelle, W. C. Winkler, Russell F. Blakey.

HAS TAKEN 120 LIVES; RETIRES

British Public Executioner Gives Up Position as Nerve Fails Him

LONDON, June 16.—John Ellis has retired to the peace and quiet of his garden at Rochdale to try to forget the scenes he has witnessed during the twenty-three years' service as a public executioner.

While he occupied the grim post of hangman Ellis sent to their death 120 men and women whose lives were declared forfeit by the state. Many of them were among the most notorious figures in British criminal history.

Nerve Broken

It is declared that the reason for Ellis' retirement is that his nerve at last has broken and that he can no longer face the ordeal incident upon the execution of a fellow creature.

Before he became a hangman Ellis was a barber, a jovial, talkative razor-wielder, who enjoyed the companionship of his fellow men. Small, mild-mannered and retiring, Ellis, when he set out to conduct an execution, looked more like a doctor going to usher into the world a new life than a grim avenger of the law.

Lord Shaftesbury, of London, Lord Chamberlain to the Queen, has a remarkable tenor voice and has had offers of several hundred dollars a week to appear in vaudeville, but is wealthy, and sings publicly only for charity.

FATHER'S DAY IS MILLIKAN'S TOPIC

Pastor Urges Appreciation Of Qualities Shown by Heads of Families

Appropriate to the occasion, Father's Day, Rev. L. J. Millikan, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, selected for his topic Sunday morning "Our Noble Fathers"; text Ephesians, 6:2, "Honor Thy Father." He said in part:

"Since it has very properly become the national custom to honor our mothers, and set aside a day every year to cherish their memories, it is but fitting that we also honor our fathers in a similar manner. Today has been set aside for that purpose. In reading the sermon topics in the daily press, this subject is so conspicuous by its absence one wonders if 'Father' or 'Father's Memory' are not almost forgotten. Let us not be so unappreciative. I trust the time will never come when 'Father' ever will, or ever can, be forgotten. It is the duty of every mother to so tutor and to instil into the hearts of her children, a reverence for their father they can not forget. Fathers know how to love, and they are worthy of being loved.

Tender Memories

"Today I would have you stand with me by the side of the empty chair where 'Father' sat; look upon the old hat and clothes he wore while toiling for daily bread for his household; open that dear old book from which he so often read; recall the passages that so perfectly harmonized with his devoted life. How thankful would we be for just one more glimpse of such a scene! What would we not be willing to give for one more look into his kind loving eyes, or the privilege of clasping his dear hands again—hands hardened prehaps by constant daily toil for others? Can we forget such unselfishness, such love, such sacrifice?

"For such a worthy example we should praise God, and resolve so to live that our lives will reflect only honor to 'Father's Memory."

GOLF COURSE AT OAKMONT CLUB

First Nine Holes Formally Dedicated Saturday as Players Tee Off

H. S. Webb turned in the low score for the official and formal opening of the new golf course at the Oakmont Country club Saturday. Mr. Webb's card showed a 77 gross. Harold Thompson turned in an 84 gross, handicap 6, net 78, Ralph Eckels turned in a 71 net, having a 10 handicap. Other low net scores were: E. M. Simon, 75; G. W. Rich, 78; and W. B. Walker, 71.

The course opened Saturday is nine holes with a total yardage of 3170 yards. The longest hole is the third, 485 yards, and the shortest is 106 yards. The nine holes will become the sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth holes of the finished course. Work has already started on several additional holes.

Make Pretty Scene

Sloping gently away from the clubhouse for a distance of a 1000 yards or over, the velvety greens and fairways offered a pretty sight when spotted with figures of the golfers who were present on the opening day to try out the new links. Well over a hundred enthusiasts played over the nine holes Saturday morning and afternoon.

The feature of the opening day was the Blind Bogey Sweepstakes, won by Max Green and C. C. Bowerman. The qualifying score for the sweepstakes was between 70 and 80. Among those entered in the Blind Bogey were S. W. Williams, E. M. Simon, G. H. Bentley, Park Arnold, J. R. Bentley, R. H. Peckham and many others.

President Harry Hall was on hand during the morning to see that things got started in proper style, but was unable to drive the first ball as scheduled because of an injured hand. Many visitors from over Southern California also visited the club throughout the day.

Praised for Work

Max Behr, designer of the course, received many congratulations on the result of his efforts and was busy explaining details to the players throughout the day. He has laid out the course from the standpoint of landscape beauty and the grading has been handled in such a way as to make the entire course appear natural with all the artificial construction details carefully blotted out by the natural appearance of the whole.

Among the foursomes on hand early to play over the links were a quartet composed of A. R. Eastman, R. W. Kent, C. J. Hatz and Mr. Holland; another group consisting of H. S. Webb, Harold Thompson, S. N. Coulter and C. C. Bowerman; and a third party of four made up of Russell Thompson, Ralph Eckles, and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson.

One of the visitors going over the course with Mr. Behr, was Alec Morrison, golfing expert, who puts on a golf act with his partner, Flannigan, on the Orpheum circuit. He pronounced the links among the best in Southern California.

New Automatic Feed Press Enlarges Facilities of South Brand Firm

The new Miehle vertical, automatic-feed job press now in operation in the plant of the Glendale News Commercial Printing company at 137½ South Brand boulevard, brings to this concern one of the most advanced and efficient machines of its kind in the world today.

The press may be seen in operation through the show window in front of the shop and many Glendalians have paused on their way down Brand boulevard to observe the almost human way in which it feeds the paper automatically against the forms.

The purchase of the Miehle vertical job press is in line with the policy of the proprietors, D. R. Patterson, C. A. Griffin and Jose Felix, to offer a commercial printing service so superior and ecnomical that it at once commands the field.

Cuts Time on Work

With the Miehle vertical job press, make-ready of ordinary type jobs is greatly reduced as compared with platen presses, owing to the substitution of the cylinder for the platen. A succession of type jobs all requiring the same color of ink can be printed almost without interruption on this press, outside of the minimum of time required changing the form and setting the side guide.

The press feeds the paper automatically and will feed every kind of sheet within its range with practically no adjustment, since, in feeding, it depends entirely upon air separation and suction, there being no bucklers, combers, belts, tapes nor rubbing or calibrating of the sheet.

Business Is Good

In addition to this Miehle Vertical job press, the Glendale News Commercial Printing company operates a three-magazine new model Intertype machine and a battery of three smaller job presses, all electrically equipped, in addition to electrical stitchers, perforators and many incidental pieces of printing machinery. A complete line of new type faces adds to the efficiency and superiority of the plant.

Speaking for his associates as well as himself, D. R. Patterson states that since March 1 of this year, when they took over the plant from The Glendale Evening News, business has been consistently good and that the number of their satisfied customers continues to grow, which, he declares, is the best proof that real service is being offered at an economy made possible by superior equipment.

WHY ELECTRICITY MUST BE SAVED

On account of the unusually light rainfall during the past winter, Power companies throughout the state who use water power for the generation of electricity are now faced with an acute shortage.

On the Edison system the two principal sources of water power supply are the Kern River east of Bakersfield and the tributaries of the San Joaquin River northeast of Fresno.

Kern River is carrying only 25 per cent of the water usually available on this date.

On the Big Creek System where water is stored in Huntington Lake the amount available is less than 25 per cent of normal. This lake which has a capacity of 88,000 acre feet now holds less than 20,000 acre feet and practically no more will flow in until next April. Under the supervision of the Railroad Commission plans have been formulated to protect the essential requirements of all power users throughout the state. This will be done by directing the use of the power so that non-essential service will be curtailed until the present situation is relieved.

To this end the Edison Company has prepared a power budget which assigns to each of its operating districts the amount of power available for each month. The District Manager in turn will arrange so that this power will be distributed equitably among all the consumers in his district.

To accomplish this some rigid rules will be put into effect which will eliminate the use of certain kinds of service which the committee representing all of the interests throughout the state considers unnecessary.

The situation is unforeseen and absolutely unavoidable. Wherever restrictions are made they are necessary to conserve the power for the use of farmers to mature their crops and to supply industry and maintain payrolls. Without supervision the crops would suffer and industrial workers would be laid off.

We ask our consumers to aid in every possible way by reducing the consumption of electric energy by shorter hours of use and, wherever possible, the substitution of other devices to conduct their work.

VISITORS THRONG BANK'S NEW HOME

Security Building Is Mecca For Proud Glendalians Saturday Night

manager of the Glendale branch, puts the number above 25,000.

Some three years ago, when this banking institution opened its six-story branch in Hollywood, officials recall, it was the tallest structure in that community. Today many fourteen-story buildings dot the Hollywood skyline and more are constantly rising. A similar prediction is made for Glendale.

Arthur F. Priest, architect who designed this beautiful building that is now open for business, himself a Glendale man, regards the structure as one of the finest examples of his work. Italian renaissance in type, absolutely fireproof, combining the very latest ideas both as to design and finish, with over 100 private offices in addition to the banking quarters, the Glendale branch of the Security Trust and Savings bank is indeed a monumental edifice for this city.

Some idea of the crowd can be drawn from the fact that the Chateau de Qualite caterers, served 250 gallons of punch, and the edition of 10,000 copies of the souvenir booklet, "First of the Ranchos, the Story of Glendale," was exhausted.

Floral Tributes

Among those sending flowers for the bank's opening were Glendale Creamery company, Tujunga Record-Ledger, Alfred F. Priest, Communitly Savings & Commercial bank, Tanner & Hall, Wesselne Marble & Tile company, Lloyd Wilson, Harry W. Chase, Golden State Building & Loan association, Eagle Rock branch of the Security bank, the Orgibet Printery, Harrison, Lee & Lee, Glendale Chamber of Commerce, Bayer-Rothgeb company, J. V. McNeil company, Thomas D. Watson, Coker & Taylor, Glendale branch of the Pacific-Southwest, W. S. Perrin, Harry E. Francy, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Phillips, Employes of the Glendale branch of the Security bank, Glendale Merchants' association, Glendale Credit association, C. B. Gardien & Co., H. L. Scores Indifference Of Native Americans

Scoring the indifference that is manifest on every hand toward moral and social welfare of the nation, Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, yesterday morning declared that the failure of so many people to exercise the suffrage that is one of the priceless boons conferred on them by the United States is pointing the way to the inevitable disintegration and collapse of the democratic institutions for which the founders of this country fought.

"The worst menace to this country is not the alien element," asserted Mr. Kemp, "but the lethargy of the native electorate which permits the minority vote to run the nation."

"The only way to insure the progress of the nation is to get back to the foundations of life as laid down in the Scriptures and to dedicate ourselves anew as sincere followers of Christ."

Builds Two Cottages In Big Bear Region

George E. Jeffries of 330 Salem street writes from Pine Knot, Big Bear, that he has been busy for five weeks building two cottages, one for his own family and another for Clem Moore of 360 West California avenue.

Mr. Jeffries tells of the beauty around the lake and says he is anticipating spending a whole at Red Ant Hill to fish and rest.

STUDENTS ATTEND UNION SERVICES

Baccalaureate Sermon Given By Rev. C. M. Calderwood At High School

The churches of Glendale combined last night in union services at the auditorium of the new Broadway High school for the graduating seniors, who attended in a body. With nearly every seat taken and the ministers from many of the denominations taking part, the baccalaureate services were the most impressive ever held for a senior class from the Glendale High school.

Music for the occasion was provided by the High school musical organizations and the newly formed union chorus. The invocation was given by Rev. Harry I. Rasmus, the address by Rev. C. M. Calderwood, prayer by Rev. L. J. Millikan and benediction by Rev. E. E. Ford.

Calderwood's Topic

For the baccalaureate sermon, Dr. Calderwood chose as his subject, "The Enlargement of Life," with a text taken from Psalm 18:19, "He hath brought me forth into a large place." Giving examples from the Scriptures of those who were brought to a "large place" and speaking directly to the graduates, he said:

"You have been brought into a large place. You have come from the small world of yesterday into the large world of today; a world where man has been given dominion over many things; a world of complex problems. Questions must arise in your minds as to what is your rightful place and what you are to do in it. How are you to bear your burdens, assume your responsibilities and solve these difficult problems?"

Dr. Calderwood then pointed out that long years lay ahead in which to achieve and perfect a character and that those he addressed were well equipped with strength and enthusiasm with which to meet the problems. "Wisdom is our most valuable possession. It means the culture of our faculties and powers and the discovery and development of our potentialities."

Value of Culture

Stressing the value of culture in all walks of life, he urged that they use this wisdom to weigh, discriminate, and, above all, construct a noble living. After pleading for obedience to the laws as an important element in true wisdom, he closed, saying: "May you be fitted for the large place you should occupy in the world by a full recognition of your responsibilities and by a wholesome fear of the Lord, which is the wisdom that is more precious than rubies."

G.A.R., - W.R.C. Convention Draws Over 5,000 TO San Diego

Glendalians who attended the annual department encampment of the G. A. R. and auxiliaries in San Diego have returned. There were over 5,000 visitors present with some very interesting reports of the convention. Convention headquarters were at the U. S. Grant hotel.

One of the most spectacular features of the convention was the parade held Wednesday morning. Most of the veterans marched with a large number of marines, Daughters of Veterans, W. R. C., Sons of Veterans and other patriotic organizations. A special feature was the large American flag carried by sixteen women, which was later presented by the W. R. C. to the San Diego High school. The G. A. R. veterans presented a picture of Lincoln to the high school.

Tuesday night a banquet was held and on Wednesday night a camp fire was held at Balboa park with several thousand people present.

Officers Elected

Officers of the W. R. C. elected are as follows: President, Martha Packard of Los Angeles; senior vice-president, Blanche Hawk Pinkham of Sacramento; junior vice-president, May Dunnivay of Redlands; treasurer, Winifred McLaughlin of Los Angeles; secretary, Ella French of Los Angeles; chaplain, Martha Wood of San Diego; patriotic instructor, Gladys Magill of San Francisco; I & I officers, Alice Bowles of Inglewood. The Glendale W. R. C. were honored by having Priscilla Houdyshel elected department press correspondent.

The G. A. R. officers elected were: Commander, Dr. Grannis of Turlock; senior vice-commander, L. E. Gates of San Jose; junior vice-commander, . S. W. Sutton of Santa Ana; chaplain, J. P. Kendrick of Pasadena.

Clubs Will Rehearse For Open Air Program

The Choral club is to meet at 8 o'clock tonight at Harvard High school, to rehearse preliminary to an open air concert Friday night at the same place.

Tonight the women are to meet at 7:30 o'clock for chorus work. The men singers are to remain after the regular rehearsal hour for their chorus work. J. Arthur Myers is director.

To utilize the native fir wood of Java, a project to manufacture matches of the Swedish type is under consideration.

EVELYN HUNT IS CONTEST WINNER

Named Glendale Bridesmaid For Wedding Ceremony At Beverly Hills

Miss Evelyn Hunt, popular young Glendale dancer, is being congratulated on being the successful contestant in the race for the "Miss Glendale" bridesmaid for the Beverly Hills wedding of beauty and industry, June 25. Miss Lois Naudain was the other contestant from Glendale.

The wedding has been planned to symbolize the successful union of beauty and industry in Southern California.

After the wedding ceremony the reception and wedding supper, the bride and groom will leave on a honeymoon trip. A week of "open house" will be held during their absence. The bridesmaids from the various communities will serve as co-hostesses on community nights.

Miss Glendale will be hostess on Glendale night, Friday, June 27, at Holsum House.
